Major Rift Develops between Planners, Consultant over Work Done

As Princeton's municipal budgets come forward one by one for informal public hearing, a critical situation between the Princeton Regional Planning Board and its consultant, Richard May of Planners, Inc., has been revealed.

In conversations with municipal officials and planning board members, two issues stand out: disagreement on the board concerning the quality of Planners' work; and the problem of financial control.

Unless telephone conversations this week with Mr. May are fruitful, the working relationship may be broken off. Then, as one official says, "I don't know where we go. Starting all over again with a new planner would be almost impossible."

On the Planning Board, there are "grave differences of opinion," in the words of one member, on the quality of Mr. May's work. The consultant has been involved chiefly with the housing report, but has also worked on plans for the Central Business District (CBD.)

Professionals on the board — architects and professional planners — think the work has been good. One member, who isn't a professional, said this week "I think we've gotten a fair return on our money; the job was bigger than he or we ever thought."

The Planning Board itself is charged by some officials — and indeed by some members — with sloppy financial control. They say Mr. May, too, was remiss in not keeping tight and specific records.

Original Cost $39,800. Mr. May's original proposal, presented in June, 1972, was for $39,800 for the housing job — the "village" proposal is an outcome of his work. The dollar figure was only an estimate. No formal contract was signed until almost a year later, in April, 1973, but it, too, incorporated the $39,800 figure and stipulated that expenditures were not to exceed that amount.

The proposal and the eventual contract, also included an hourly rate, and under the agreement, Mr. May was to bill the Planning Board monthly at the hourly rate.

Officials point out a built in contradition: was the consultant to be paid a lump sum, or was he to be paid by the hour? Would he stop work pencil in air, when the $39,800 figure was reached at a hourly pace?

The contract covered four phases: 1. housing proposals, 2. integration of housing and CBD plans into a master plan, 3. development and publication of the master plan, 4 drawing up ordinances to implement the plan.

So far, Planners, Inc. has been paid $32,440 and Phase 1 isn't even complete. It was to have been finished last December 31.

Work Expands. As Mr. May began to work, the job began to grow. Data he wanted weren't there, and he had to develop them himself. He had assumed work already done by Charles Agle on the CBD would simply be incorporated into his own design. But the Planning Board didn't accept everything Mr. Agle had proposed, and brought Mr. May into CBD work, thereby diverting him, as one official puts it, from the housing work he'd been asked to do.

Also, board members point out that Princeton's Planning Board is pioneering — breaking into new areas of zoning and land use, and therefore finding new problems (and new ground to break) around every turn in the road.

One official says ruefully that "Dick May was always responsive to new directives, never saying 'Hey, this is going to cost you more' and he was submitting monthly bills and getting paid."

In March of this year, when the amount of extra work Mr. May was doing became apparent — he'd been asked to take on the Kopp housing case, for example, in which the Planning Board was deeply involved — the board decided to eliminate Phase 4 and assign Phase 4's allocated $7,800 to the other three housing phases. Mr. May is said to have agreed to this as adequate compensation for his additional work.

By April, when the contract was finally drawn, the Planning Board was "painfully aware," says one member, that $32,400 had been paid and only part of Phase 1 was done.

'74 Budget. In the original draft of the upcoming 1974 budget, the Planning Board penciled in $19,880 for a planning consultant, as the board's projection of what it would cost to finish up. But, realizing this had to be discussed in more detail, the board changed its mind and the budget now shows $8,640 for a consultant.

This figure includes the $7,800 still owed to Mr. May under the original $39,800 agreement; plus $800 worth of work the consultant did in preparing an application for Federal planning money, plus $480 for something called "effecting measures," which one official says hasn't been defined, and another says was related to preliminary work toward Phase 4. Mr. May's $1,120 fee for work on the Kopp housing case, is listed separately in the budget.

"The problem was business management," says one top official, "and there's a lot of blame on both sides. There was a serious problem of misunderstanding about the nature of the contract; we thought it was a lump sum. But to start again with another consultant! We could end up paying a LOT more."

"We should have renegotiated the contract earlier," says another official, "if we continue with May, we must not have this ambiguity. We must itemize everything in as much detail as possible. We must pay the consultant ONLY as he finishes identifiable portions of work. That would give him great incentive to finish. Will he agree to this? We don't know, and we don't know what we'll do if he doesn't agree."

GARAGE NOW IN DOUBT

Who Needs 700 Spaces? If a gasoline shortage is going to be with us for years, and rationing is a possibility as early as January, why should the Borough of Princeton spent $2 million to build a 700-space municipal garage?

If the answer at the moment is not total rejection of the proposal, at least it is being given major reconsideration. Both Mayor Robert Cawley and George C. Olexa, Jr., a member of his committee studying the project, this week indicated that it faces a delayed start.

Plans were announced late last summer for a three-story parking facility at the intersection of Witherspoon and Spring Streets, near the Public Library. Traffic in the center of town had become intolerable, it was felt, and removal from the streets of hundreds of cars through construction of a modern municipal garage was believed by many to be essential.

The matter has been in the hands of the Regional Planning Board, which was awaiting official designation of the Witherspoon - Spring site by Borough Council. Now, another look. . . .

"If gas is in shorter supply, traffic will drop of its own accord," Mr. Olexa reasons. "The garage has been planned to take cars off the streets, not just to create more parking spaces."

Another factor that may shelve the building plans is examination of new state and federal anti-pollution standards. They, too, may affect the need for the garage.

Mayor Cawley said he believes the U.S. Government may reduce the number of cars on the road through enforcement of its clean air regulations. New Jersey is taking steps to require cars to use anti-pollution devices.

In the face of two such major questions requiring further study of the advisability of spending $2 million on a municipal garage, the proposal finds the green light has switched to a strong shade of yellow for caution. "It makes me wonder if we should even look at any specific garage designs until we have the answers we need," Mayor Cawley said.

A QUARTET THAT YALE REMEMBERS: Bill Roper, who in 1919 and 1920 coached Princeton to its first back-to-back victories over Yale in the current century; Tad Wieman, whose teams from 1938-41 were the first to give Tigers four in a row over Elis; Charlie Caldwell, who raised the number to six between 1947 and1952; and Dick Colman, who duplicated Caldwell's feat between 1961 and '66.

100th Anniversary

string of six straight triumphs over the Blue came as a major upset in 1947, following by a scant 12 months a major 30-to-2 shellacking that the rebuilding Tigers had absorbed in the first post-war year. Caldwell, in a word, had rebuilt, and he guided his Orange and Black teams to five more triumphs before Yale staved off a precedent-setting seventh straight loss with a last-minute 26-24 upset in Palmer Stadium.

A year later, Royce Flippin, now Princeton's Director of Athletics, led the Tigers to what has really been the last major upset in the long series when he came off the bench to score three touchdowns in the 21-14 triumph. So sure was Yale that he would not recover from a broken wrist in time to play that his name was not printed in the press-box depth chart.

Six-game superiority streaks, equally divided, have dominated the series for the past dozen years. Dick Colman, Caldwell's disciple and successor, won them all from 1961 to '66, and the Elis have matched that since then. Now they are on the verge of winning the seventh consecutive victory that neither team has ever managed in the first 100 years.

Various ceremonies have been planned to mark Saturday's centennial. Princeton fans who recall the days when baseball (or football, for that matter) were played at University Field may remember the picturesque McCormick Gateway that stood for 50 years at the William Street entrance.

Dismantled when the field was converted to the site of the Engineering Quadrangle in 1961, the gates have now been installed in front of Jadwin Gymnasium, at the open end of Palmer Stadium. Both the Princeton band and the football team will make their entrance to the field through them on Saturday. Restoration of the gateway has been made possible by Hugh T. Adams '35, who has also given the mall and the flagpole near Jadwin and a pair of massive bronze Tigers in the center of the campus.

Half-time ceremonies will feature the introduction into the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame of Harold Ballin, an All-American tackle for Princeton in 1913 and '14. In his senior year, Ballin was captain of the first team to play in Palmer Stadium.

All Princeton and Yale members of the Hall of Fame will be honored, as will representatives of Princeton teams from 1903, 1913, 1923, 1933, 1943, 1953 and 1963. A majority of members of the 1933 team, whose 9-for-9 record included a 20-0 triumph over the Columbia eleven that won the Rose Bowl game that season, will attend a Friday night reunion dinner here.

Editor's Note: The sketches of the four Princeton coaches above and some of the facts about the Yale-Princeton rivalry in the 19th century were provided by the book, "100 Years of Princeton Football," of which William C. Stryker and Len Elliott were co-authors.

IT'S BUDGET TIME

Public Invited. A couple of buses may lumber along Princeton's streets just in time to rescue the town from the fuel shortage. They are in the budget of the Joint Committee on Transportation.

The Committee's 1974 budget will be on the floor for public comment this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. With it on the agenda are the budgets of the Regional Planning Board, fire departments and civil defense.

This Saturday, at 9 a.m. in Borough Hall, the public may discuss budgets of the Joint Recreation Board, Princeton Public Library and Sewer Operating Committee.

Corner House's drug abuse control program, the Joint Commission on Civil Rights and the Joint Commission on Aging were scheduled for this Wednesday, 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Bus Stop. Mercer Metro is prepared to send two of its buses around a Princeton route, Transportation Commission members say, but there won't be any buses ready for another six months.

The route itself is still under study, but would probably touch the Princeton Shopping Center, library, YM-YWCA, faculty housing, the PRR station at the foot of University Place and a spot near the Princeton Medical Center.

At least one peripheral parking lot would be provided so that bus riders could leave a car and take public transportation. Verbal commitment from Princeton University has been given for use of the lot next to Jadwin Gym.

The transportation committee's budget sets an overall yearly cost of $67,000. Fares, still not set, might bring in $15,000. The remaining $52,000, for the six months available from Mercer Metro, would mean $13,000 each from Borough and Township governments, for a $26,000 total.

Because low-income neighborhoods and sections of Princeton where elderly people live would be on the route, Federal subsidy might be available. Commission members hope.

Books, Swimming Pools. This Saturday, the public library's budget and those of the recreation and sewer departments will be up for scrutiny. The library is asking for $433,585, up 7.3 percent from last year. Sunday hours are in the budget, and a new category: evening hours in the children's department.

The library would like $40,000 from the town for books, up $5,637 from last year. The library is losing $6,000 in a restricted gift for books which it had in last year's budget.

Warning that the library building is seven years old and subject to constant, heavy use, the trustees budget $6,000 for carpet replacement. Furniture and interior painting may be required in a few years, they point out.

In the recreation board's request for $88,346, up from last year's $67,683, the board itemizes $2,647 in savings effected last year. Included in the list is savings in repairing filter tubing rather than buying anew, cleaning the swimming pools with the department's own crew, relamping the paddle tennis courts instead of going outside for electricians and material.

CLEAN UP!

Eating Places Inspected. Princeton University's undergraduate dining halls and the Seminary's dining facdities failed to receive a "satisfactory" rating in health inspections this fall and are stilt in the "conditional satisfactory" category. The University's Graduate College facilities, the Student Center and McCosh Infirmary, passed inspection with "satisfactory."

Two public eating establishments in the Borough are currently "conditional satisfactory:" the Esquire Luncheonette, inspected November 5, and the Princeton Tea Garden, inspected October 30.

The six and one half hour inspection of the undergraduate dining-halls was made by Borough and state officials. It was the first ever made of the dining facilities, which are classified as "private." A new state law, dating from last December, now requires such inspections.

Kitchens are normally given about 14 days to clear up the "condition" and then the Board of Health — in these cases the Borough Board of Health, joined by state inspectors for Seminary and University — returns to see if the clean-up has been done.

It's Justice Hughes Now

Richard J. Hughes, 90 Westcott Road, has been appointed chief justice of the New Jersey State Supreme Court by Gov. William T Cahill.

Mr. Hughes was Democratic governor of New Jersey, preceding the Republican Gov. Cahill in "Morven," the gubernatorial mansion on Stockton Street. The new appointee succeeds Chief Justice Pierre Garvin who died October 19 after a stroke.

Observers see a quick confirmation of Mr Hughes in the wake of last week's Democratic sweep of the New Jersey State Legislature.

The Borough Board of Health found the Esquire with food stored on the floor, equipment not sanitized as part of the cleaning process, pots and pans not "clean to sight and touch" and stored where they could get dusty.

The Tea Garden, said health inspectors, didn't have bright enough lights in dining room or toilets during the cleaning process, stored silverware so that it could be picked up by the eating end rather than the handle, had food stored on the floor and used pitted pots and pans. These utensils, health inspectors say, can be phased out; the restaurant doesn't have to buy all new ones all at once.

"Satisfactory" — the highest rating — was given during September, October and early November to Hill's Market, P.J.'s Pancake House, Harry's Luncheonette, the OK Bar, Ball's Confectionary and the Princeton University Store.

"Conditional satisfactory" designations, since cleared to a "satisfactory," were given to Davidson's, Buxton's and A & S.

"Housekeeping" violations are the most common, reports the Board of Health, although in many of Princeton's older buildings roaches are a continuing exasperation. In some institutional cases, health inspectors note overdue expiration dates on milk cartons, or frozen meat thawing over a shelf holding produce.

STUDENT IS MUGGED

Near Firestone Library. A 19 year old University undergraduate was knocked to the ground by two youths last week as he was coming out of Firestone Library in the evening.

His attackers grabbed his wallet and fled toward Nassau Street. With the aid of another student, the victim gave chase and managed to apprehend one of the suspects in a Tulane Street parking lot. The youth, police said, told the victim he could get his wallet back, and he managed to retrieve it later from his companion on Nassau Street and return it to the owner. It contained $1, police said.

Det. Timothy Huizing is continuing the investigation and arrests are imminent.

Heats up quick!

Now that we've had a taste (please pardon our vocabulary, Mr. Turkey) of the crisp, frosty weather that usually accompanies Thanksgiving, the Man has slipped up a whole lot of unseasonably mild stuff from the south. Readings in the 20s (and skin ice) of a few days ago are being replaced by thermometer figures in the 60s.

Showers may follow along about Friday. The weekend forecast: partially sunny and mild.

IDA MOVES AHEAD

Passes Planning Board. The Institute for Defense Analyses can apply for a building permit in the Township when Thanet, developer of IDA's plot, comes to a stopping place in work now in progress on some improvements.

Performance bonds will be posted for completing the work, which is concerned with road, curbing, drainage, walks and the like.

Thanet received preliminary and final subdivision approval at last Wednesday's meeting of the Regional Planning Board. Site plan approval was granted in November, 1971.

$106 IS STOLEN

From Rusty Scupper Vault. Between 11:30 Friday evening and 12:01 a.m., $406.50 in cash was stolen from an open upper half of a vault at the Rusty Scupper restaurant, 378 Alexander Road.

Police said that the thief forced open the managers' first-floor office by kicking the door near the latch. Also taken was a $300 sheepskin coat. Customers on the second floor did not report hearing anything, police noted, possibly because a band was playing at the time.

Police identified the manager as David Magill. Ptl. Robert Nielsen investigated.

Pair Caught Shoplifting. Two 19 year-old students at Rider College were caught shoplifting last week by Mrs. Constance Ware of the security department of Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Released after being issued a complaint summons calling for a Dec. 5 court hearing were Margaret R. Gilbert of Massapequa and Debra A. Kasler of Schnectady. They allegedly concealed articles of women's clothing in empty handbags with a combined value of $71. The two were processed by Township police.

12 SPEEDERS FINED

In Borough Court: Twelve Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough Court by Judge Philip Carchman for speeding.

Five paid $20: Barbara A. Balestrieri, 233 Moore Street; Sydelle Ruderman, 36 Valley Road; Mark Descoteaux, 57 N. Tulane Street; Gerard Noble, 446 Riverside Drive, and Dorothy C. Higgins, Herron-

SEXUAL EQUALITY URGED

For 'Y' Activities. A group calling itself "Citizens to Open Opportunities for Participation (CO-OP) at the 'Y's" will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Woman's Place, 14½ Witherspoon Street.

The group wants the YMCA and YWCA to initiate a program opening all of their learning and adventure experiences to youth of both sexes.

Among the ideas the CO-OP has considered are a suggestion that the YWCA and YMCA establish a committee to combat sexism in society, and a proposal that the fee structure for youth activities at the two 'Y's be equalized so that girls and boys pay the same fee for the same opportunities.

The group hopes to make a presentation to the YWCA's open membership meeting November 26, and later in December to the YMCA.

FIRST PLANS UNVEILED

For Battlefield Restoration. If everything goes according to schedule, Princeton's historic battlefield will have a lot of new facilities waiting for the anticipated Bicentennial tourist influx.

That's the prediction of Edward "Chet" D'Arms, president of the Princeton Area Battlefield Preservation Society after the society met Sunday to approve the first phase of a long-range plan.

Officers and trustees of the society have received preliminary plans submitted by James M. Dickey, historical architect. Mr. Dickey has been retained by the Society and the State of New Jersey, to develop plans for the restoration of the battlefield and its conversion into a planned tourist attraction.

His first phase plans call for the park to be ready for the 1976 Bicentennial and the 200th Anniversary of the Battle of Princeton which was fought on Jan. 3, 1977.

Highlights of the plan call for restoration of the Clarke House, a new visitor orientation center, and building paths to Mercer Oak and other historic locations.

Mr. D'Arms also announced that the National Trust for Historic Preservation had come through with a donation of $500 to assist in meeting architects fees and the State of New Jersey has promised to pay costs of completing working drawings and other plans. An anonymous foundation has contributed another $5,000.

LECTURE PLANNED

On Washington. "The Real Washington" will be the first in the Princeton Historical Society's evening lectures. It will be given by James Thomas Flexner at 8 p.m. in the Convocation Room of the Engineering Quadrangle on Tuesday, November 27. The public is invited.

Mr. Flexner won the 1973 National Book Award in biography for "George Washington: Anguish and Farewell 1793-1799." He has been the recipient of many awards in a long career of writing and historical research.

Inn Haul Climbs to $51,000

The armed holdup November 5 of a Nassau Inn messenger on his way to the Princeton Bank and Trust Company to deposit weekend receipts netted the robber and his companion considerably more than the $10,000 first reported by police.

The latest count as reported Tuesday by Borough police is $51,000 More than half — $31,000 — was in cash and checks to the United Fund; the remaining $20,000 in cash and checks belonged to Palmer Square Inc., which operates the Inn. Approximately $15,000 of the total amount was in cash, police said.

The investigation by police under the direction of Det. Timothy Huizing is continuing.

MEETING TUESDAY

Of Recreation Board. The Board will hold its November meeting Tuesday evening at 8:15 in Township Hall.

Executive Director R. Donald Barr will report on progress of renovating the ball fields. Twenty tons of top soil have been used to resurface the infields of all four diamonds at Community Park and one outfield and drainage has been improved.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of lighting the outdoor pools. The public is invited to appear before the board and make comments.

AFTER 25 YEARS....

ALLEN'S FLOWERS TAKES A GIANT STEP BACKWARDS!

Allen's Flowers is creeping up on it's quarter century mark. How it's kind of hard to square this fact with the point of my turning 29 come next March, but then I was a child prodigy. Anyway, to turn back the clock, so to speak, we are offering for a short time—25 daisies for $1.00. If that seems hard for you to believe, just think how it makes me feel. Getting less for my stuff now than when I started.

FLOWERS FOR THANKSGIVING

Extend your enjoyment of Thanksgiving this year. Introduce your company to our company — flowers. Long after your friends depart — when you are enjoying 'leftovers' — our flowers will still be going strong.

One thought. Know someone whose Thanksgiving will be lonely and cheerless. Why not stop by with a little bunch of flowers and a few minutes of your time. Ever notice how flowers bring out your best qualities.

For fear you may think I steal my flowers in order to sell them so inexpensively, let me make one thing perfectly clear. There are no bootleg flowers. Ever hear of a flower being hijacked? In fact, the flower business in it's entirety does not effect the economic climate of this country even a smidgin. It's a non-essential business. There is no trading of flower futures on the commodity markets. It is not subsidized by the government. Florists don't get paid to plow their crops under or withhold production and grow hay in their greenhouses. It's a product that can't be frozen, dehydrated or canned. It has to be sold when it's cut or forget about it. Not even Russia or China have offered to buy our flower surpluses at 1½% interest.

But surpluses there are — seasonally. That is where we come in. It is also why you come in. We are able to buy these orphan flowers in glut situations well below their cost of production. For the grower it's a salvage operation. He takes what he can get and hopes for a stronger market next week. For our part, we buy by the hamper, case lots, and truckloads. Our trick, quite openly, is buy cheap — sell cheap. But FRESH — no compromise there. This part of our business is necessarily a bare-bones operation. We will not deliver or arrange them for you. Just good flowers for your dollar. Yet we wrap a package of cut flower food with each purchase, give you bonus coupons, and force pretzels on you. Some of the sweetest girls you'll ever meet will wrap your flowers — and smile — and say "thank you, and have a nice weekend."

We don't view our "specials" operation as cut throat competition. Any other florist could do the same thing if they devoted the time, thought, and attention to it that we do. As for the other side of the coin, we have been blessed with a thriving trade. Wedding plans, anniversary bouquets, hospital arrangements and party flowers all demand our best efforts and for these we charge as much, or more than our hard-working fellow florists. That's because our labor, our creativity, our enormous selection and undisputed quality all go into it.

We hope you know we love our flower business. We know you love our flowers.

And that seems like a nice arrangement.

FINAL RESULTS LISTED

In Election. Final Borough Council election results this week pushed re-elected Councilman Joseph P. Moore over the 2,000-vote mark. Absentee votes were not available election night for Borough candidates. The final count:

Joseph P. Moore: 2,017
Martin P. Lombardo: 1,954
Margaret Penick: 1,385
Robert Pols: 1,284

In the Township, absentee tallies were known election night and were counted into the final totals. District Two has an apparent error in the tally for re-elected Committeeman Jay Bleiman. The count from the machines gave Mr. Bleiman 156 votes; however, his running-mate, Ellen Peterson received 237, and it is thougbt that the Bleiman total should have been 256.

District Two election officials noted the count in a memo to the Mercer County election board. Voting machines are usually kept intact in the event of a recount so it may be some time before a correction can be made, if one is required. Mr. Bleiman's victory is not affected by the 100-vote gap.

Going by early returns, Town Topics called the 14th District New Jersey Assembly race incorrectly. Winners were Republican incumbents Walter E. Foran and Karl Weidel.

The Mercer County Study Commission's nine members, chosen by county residents from a ballot of 38 names, are: Nancy Schluter, Gerald Stockman, Edward F. Meara III, W. Harry Sayen, Catherine L. McGrath, Robert R. Klein, Edward P. Lisiecki Jr., Leonard Dileo and Mary Ann Golden. They are listed in order of the number of votes received.

TWO ARE CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Two Princeton area young men have been charged by Borough police with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

Arrested at 7:40 Saturday evening were Richard Wall Jr., 20, of Hightstown and Stuart Johnson, 19, Princeton Arms, Cranbury. Each was scheduled to appear in Borough Court Wednesday after being issued a complaint summons.

The two were observed by a Borough Detective allegedly smoking the drug as they sat in a car parked on University Place near McCarter Theater.

FALSE ALARM CALLED

By Two Juveniles. Two 14-year-old juveniles have been charged by police with calling in a false alarm last week, reporting a fire at Nassau Street and Linden Lane.

According to police, the youths called a Bell Telephone operator and reported a non-existent fire. This triggered a sequence of events and sent Pfc. William Fitch in a patrol car to investigate. Pfc. Fitch later apprehended the youths and turned them over to the Borough juvenile officer.

Talking Flames, Musical Computers Part Of University's Technology and Art Fair

Flames will speak, computers will make music, and a laser will create a dancing art exhibit at Princeton University's Art and Technology Fair this Saturday (from 10 to 1 p.m.) and Sunday (noon to 5) in the Engineering Quadrangle.

The public of all ages is invited to the fair, being created by faculty and undergraduate students of the Engineering Council at Princeton's School of Engineering and Applied Science to demonstrate that technology can be beautiful, beneficial, funny, and marvelous; the same way art often is.

Visitors will be able to stand before a TV camera and have a computer draw their caricatures; to view an everyday object magnified to 10,000 times life-size through an electron microscope; to watch a machine chain-smoke cigarettes; and to see garbage being sorted through the magic of magnetic levitation.

An air-cushion will support a moving platform; polarized light in passing through oriented polymeric film will change into the colors of the spectrum; a push of a button and a vortex ring will appear in water; and a peek through a novel microscope will produce a rare glimpse of an atom in a metal — magnification is 10 million times.

Other exhibits will include an electric car; a hologram; a hot air balloon; an H P. Plotter — it's programmed by a desk calculator to draw designs — a display demonstrating how polarized light reveals structural stresses in buildings and bridges; photographs entered in a photo contest; and a number of film showings — to illustrate again that there is beauty in technology.

Though the Fair is meant to entertain, most of the exhibits represent some facet of serious research on the part of faculty and students at the Engineering School.

DORMS' DEDICATION SET

On University Campus. Princeton University's Spelman Halls — the new eight building apartment complex for undergraduates designed by I M Pei & Partners — will be formally dedicated this Saturday morning.

Spelman Halls, which opened for occupancy in September, bear the maiden name of Mrs. John D Rockefeller Sr the grandmother of Laurance S Rockefeller, a 1932 Princeton graduate and Charter Trustee, whose $4 million gift

News Of The THEATRES

CURTAIN!

"The Entertainer." The second McCarter production of the season, John Osborne's "The Entertainer" will open this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. with Robert Pastene playing the role of Archie Rice, originated by Sir Lawrence Olivier. Mr. Pastene's credits include ten years with the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre Company in Minneapolis, including their bow with "The House of Atreus" and "The Resistable Rise of Arturo Ui", the world premiere of Alexander Solzhenitsyn's "A Play" at the Mark Taper Forum, Los Angeles and work at Washington's Arena Stage in the American premiere of "A Public Prosecutor Is Sick of It All" by Max Frisch and Gorky's "Enemies."

"The Entertainer" cast will also include I. M. Hobson who played Medvedenko in "The Sea Gull"; Barbara Tarbuck who first performed at McCarter in "America Hurrah" in 1968; Alice Drummond who played Pauline in McCarter's season opener, "The Sea Gull"; Randal Chiconne recently featured on two CBS specials on Peter Handke, and Andrew Bloch making his second appearance at McCarter. He recently appeared with the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival as Diomedes in "Troilus and Cressida," and following "The Entertainer" will return to the National Theatre Company in New York where he is understudying in the current production "The Age of Shaw."

Robert U. Taylor, who designed sets and visuals for the Broadway musical "Raisin," has designed a unique system for the McCarter drama series which is done for each production. For "The Entertainer" it incorporates the 1956 setting in a large coastal resort in England and Archie Rice's fading music hall.

Carl Weber is directing "The Entertainer." He is visiting lecturer at Princeton.

WELCOME, P. J. & B.!

With "Carousel." Casting has been announced for the December P. J. & B. production of "Carousel," due for a five-performance engagement at McCarter starting Thursday December 6. The musical will play again Friday and Saturday with a matinee both Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Incidentally, this is the first time since "Fiddler on the Roof" three years ago, that P. J. & B. has scheduled a second matinee. Tickets are on sale for all performances.

Steve James, Princeton University senior will be making his sixth appearance in a P. J. & B. show when he comes on stage as Billy. He was one of the two Curlys in last year's "Oklahoma!"

Carole Peterson Davis will play the role of Julie Jordan. She was Marian the Librarian in "The Music Man", and Rosebella in "The Most Happy Fella."

The part of Nettie Fowler, who sings "You'll Never Walk Alone," will be shared by Marie Bogart (she was the Mother Superior in "The Sound of Music") and Rita McDowell, a P. J. & B. veteran who goes back to the original show in 1961.

Bruce Chandlee, who was Jud in last year's "Oklahoma!", and Darcy Jannerone, who played Ado Annie, will return for another pair of Rodgers and Hammerstein roles — Jigger and Carrie. Others in the cast are Robert Paulus, Amanda Aldridge, Liz Fillo, Jim Hopkins, Doug Langston and Fred Sheldon.

Milton Lyon is directing and Joan Morton Lucas is the choreographer. Both are P. J. & B. stalwarts of many years' service.

DINNER THEATRE

At Treadway. The new idea of dinner-theatre has come to the Princeton area, and theatre-goers who like to eat can try it out starting next Tuesday at the Treadway Inn on Route One south of Princeton.

"The Owl and the Pussycat" will be the opening play, scheduled to run through December 23. It will be followed by "The Marriage Go-Round" and "Butterflies are Free." Paul Avery and Arva Holt star in "Owl and Pussycat" and all productions will be cast with New York Equity professionals.

Here's the way it works. Tuesday through Friday evenings, you have dinner at 6:30, ordering from a menu featuring prime rib and chicken Kiev. After dinner, you leave your table and move to a 150-seat theatre for the performance. Two intermissions allow plenty of bar time.

On Friday and Saturday nights, there is dancing after the show. Saturdays, you can have early dinner at 4:30 with the show at 6:30, or dinner at 9 with a show at 11 p.m. Sunday matinees start with brunch at 12:30 and a show at 1:30 and Sunday nights, dinner at 4 p.m. and a show at 6 p.m.

Midweek price is $10, including the Saturday early show. Friday, late Saturday and Sunday nights, the price is $11 and Sunday matinee, $8.

Ticket price includes everything except the bar and tips. Reservations may be made at 452-2500.

over one hundred members. Heading the production committees for "Kind Lady," are: publicity, Camilla Carpenter; sound, Phil Thompson; lighting, Janet Pritchard and Wylie Willson; property, Eleanor Funk and Kip Herrick; costumes, Ruth Barach and Susie Vaughn; make-up, Trina Kassler; house, Chris Cragg and Janet Rassweiler; tickets, Evan Bash and Ellen Albert; scenery, Tim Fabian and Cam Ferrante. Lisa Bennett, president of the Drama Club, is also stage manager for "Kind Lady." The Club's secretary treasurer is Laura Mah. Herbert McAneny, faculty advisor, is directing the production.

COMEDY AT STUART DAY

This Weekend. The Drama Club of Stuart Country Day School will present "You Can't Take it With You" by Moss Hart and George Kaufman on Friday and Saturday evenings, at 8 in the Stuart Little Theatre.

In addition to the previously announced cast, four young men from the Princeton area have joined the production. Scott Finn will play Tony, John Collins will portray Mr. DeEmma, Tom Kinder will be Boris Kolenkov and John Paulsen will be seen as the Third G Man. Munroe Wade is directing.

Students working off stage have been faced with locating several unusual props; a discus, a ballet bar, fireworks and an antique typewriter. They have also designed and made a Roman toga and laurel wreath and constructed the one room set complete with alcove. Tickets for the Pulitzer Prize winning comedy are $2 and may be purchased at the door or reserved by calling 921-2330.

AUDITION!

If You're Instrumental. Players of trombone, French horn, violin or any of its related instruments, flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, saxophone, trumpet, are invited to audition for what Theatre Intime calls "one of its most ambitious productions", to be given next spring.

Auditions will begin this Sunday and will be held until next Thursday, November 22. If you want to try out, you are asked to sign up in Murray Theatre for a time, or call 452-8181. You will be asked to play a short piece of any kind of music.

The production is called "Citizen Kong" and it's based loosely ("very loosely," says Intime) on a radio play by Spike Milligan called "Six Charlies in Search of an Author."

The original musical score is now in creation by Robert Davidson, Princeton area resident who is composer, arranger and producer. His "Aqueous Fowle" will be given in Murray Theatre in January but is not, so far as is known, related to "Citizen Kong."

Try-Outs!

If you're interested in acting in or working on Street Theatre's winter double bill ("Little Red Riding hood" and "The Snow Queen"), you're invited to come to auditions Tuesday, December 4, at 7 p.m. and Wednesday, December 5, at 2 p.m. at the YM-YWCA.

You must be in seventh grade or up, in order to try out. If tech. work is your chief interest, you are asked to sign up at audition times.

Movement workshops, sponsored by Street Theatre, will be held this Sunday and next, at 7 p.m. in Trinity Church under Gail Kaplan. Seventh grade through college age are invited.

SHAKESPEARE

"Measure for Measure." Described by its director as "one of the true 'black comedies'," Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure" will be performed by Theatre Intime for two weekends, opening Thursday, November 29, in Murray Theatre.

Daniel F. Berkowitz, the director, points out that actors "have to be constantly aware of treading the fine line between comedy and potential tragedy." He'll present his version of "Measure for Measure" in performances on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 29, 30 and December 1 and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 6, 7 and 8, all at 8:30 p.m.

JOINT CONCERT FRIDAY

For College Glee Clubs. The Princeton University Glee Club, now in its 100th season, conducted by Walter Nollner, and the Yale University Glee Club, conducted by Fenno Heath, will present their annual football concert on Friday, November 16, at 8 p.m. at Alexander Hall.

The club's program includes a Bach motet, "Furchte dich nicht, ich bin bei dir", and "The Storm", by Haydn. "Sara la baigneuse", an unusual composition by Berlioz written for three choruses, will also be performed.

Also on the program are two black spirituals: "Go down Death", arranged by Walter Nollner and "I, John, Saw the Holy Number". Princeton's portion of the program will close with the Princeton football medley.

Yale will sing "Absalom fili mi", by Des Pres, excerpts from "Liebeslliederwalzer", by Brahms, Charles Ives' "Psalm 67", and Fenno Heath's "In the Beginning". Also included in the concert are a black spiritual, three folksongs, and the Yale football medley.

Tickets are available at the University Store or, immediately preceding the concert, at Alexander Hall. Reserved seat tickets are $3, general admission $2.

MALE CHOIRS FEATURED

In Trinity Concert. A program devoted exclusively to music by Gabriel Faure will be the second event in the current Trinity-All Saints' Concert Series. The concert will be given Sunday at 8 p.m. in Trinity Church by the Columbus Boychoir and the Trinity Choir of Men and Boys.

The occasion marks one of the few times that Faure's "Requiem" will be performed by those for whom it was written — an all-male choir. The 75 voices will be accompanied by a full orchestra of 35 players.

James Litton, organist and choirmaster of Trinity Church, will conduct. Daniel Pratt of the voice department at Westminster Choir College, will be the baritone soloist. The organist will be Harold Pysher, Mr. Litton's assistant.

Admission cards at $2 for adults and $1 for students are available at the Trinity Church office or at the door. Season tickets, priced at $6 for four concerts in the series, are also available.

The next program will be December 2 with the Gallery Wind Quartet of Temple University.

SOPRANO TO SING

In Concert Monday Night. Princeton University will present Benita Valente, soprano, in the second concert of Series II on Monday at 8:30 at McCarter Theatre.

A native of California, Miss Valente studied with Lotte Lehmann at the Academy of the West and with Martial Singher at the Curtis Institute. In 1960, when she won The Metropolitan Opera Auditions, she was described as "one of the finest lyric sopranos in the United States."

Since that time, few singers of her generation have earned the critical accolades which consistently greet her performances in the recital and concert world. She gained widespread recognition as soprano in residence at the Marlboro Festival and she has opened Lincoln Center's Mostly Mozart Festival for two successive seasons.

In September of this year, Miss Valente was highly praised in her debut at the Metropolitan Opera as Pamina in "The Magic Flute." Miss Valente's repertoire boasts more than 40 opera roles, including Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas," Rossini's "L'Italiana in Algeri," Nannetta in "Falstaff," and the Governess in Britten's "The Turn of the Screw" and Anne Trulove in Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress."

For her concert in Princeton, Miss Valente will sing songs by Haydn, Brahms, R. Strauss, Debussy, Faure and Rodrigo. Tickets are available at McCarter for $3.50 and $4. Student tickets may be obtained one hour before the concert for $2.

ALLERGY BENEFIT

Opera Is Fund Raiser. Allergy sufferers will benefit from funds raised by the Princeton Opera Association's "Hansel and Gretel" to be given at the War Memorial in Trenton Friday, November 23 in two matinee performances 1 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The performances are being sponsored by a benefit committee led by honorary chairmen Governor William Cahill and Congressman Frank Thompson and including businessmen, members of the Princeton Opera Association and community leaders.

The children's opera, "Hansel and Gretel" is a favorite with Princeton Opera Association singers and audiences alike. It features a comic, down at the heel witch instead of the usual scary kind which is often an assurance to small theatre goers.

Tickets are on sale at the Toy Carousel, Princeton Shopping Center, the Princeton University Store and The Queenstown Shop, Pennington. Reservations may be made at 921-2138 or 921-8529.

CONCERT SUNDAY

For Violinist, Baritone. The Friends of Music at Princeton will present Mary Andrich, violinist, and William Jantsch, baritone, in a concert at Woolworth Center, Sunday at 3:30.

Miss Andrich will perform Handel's "Sonata No. 2 in G Minor" and "Sonata No. 5, Opus 24" by Beethoven. She will be accompanied by Minmi Fulmer '74 at the piano.

A senior at Princeton University, Miss Andrich attended Boston University's Young Artists's Program at Tanglewood in 1969 and in 1970 attended the International Festival of Youth Orchestras, in St. Moritz, Switzerland with the D.C. Youth Orchestra. She was also a member of the Princeton University Orchestra for the 1970-71 season and last summer performed at Wolf Trap Farm in the American University Program for the Performing Arts. Miss Andrich plans to attend graduate school in theoretical astrophysics.

William Jantsch is a member of the Class of '74 at Princeton University, majoring in Germanic Languages. He has studied voice with William McGrath and Shirlee Emmons and has performed as soloist with the Chapel Choir on many occasions. For his concert at Woolworth Center, Mr. Jantsch will sing songs by Poulenc, Schumann and Purcell and he will be accompanied by Susan Farmer, '74.

The concert is open to the public, admission free.

CHOCOLATE TREAT: Jacques Bornstein (left) Lonny Rossmon and Niel Bornstein (right) share a two-foot-long candy bar in anticipation of the film, "Willly Wonka and the Chocolate Factory," being shown Thursday, at 12:30 in the Princeton Playhouse. Princeton Hadassah is the sponsor.

Le Sex Shop. A slight but enjoyable study of what happens to a young French couple who run afoul of the Sexual Revolution and become involved with the new mores of our time.

Incidentally, this French film directed by Claude Berri is rated X because of some full frontal nudity and for not mincing its language or sexual descriptions. But there is no hard-core material and many a more — much more — violent and sexually promiscuous film in the last few months has not been so rated.

Basically, the film is a variation of Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice involving a young bourgeois couple who tumble headlong into the sexual revolution when he converts the family business—a seldom patronized bookshop—into a chi-chi sex store featuring everything from not too spicy Victorian novels to leather harnesses.

However, the film goes beyond the sex shop to concentrate on how the young couple react to their new found sexual freedoms. The wife, feeling threatened, withdraws; the husband lets go to the extent he is physically incapable of keeping up. Hurt by their separate reactions, the couple tear at each other, only to come back together when each realizes they need each other to be satisfied.

Call it a cop-out if you will, but they end up with a better grasp of themselves and a more realistic view of the tangled sexual world we live in. The film indicates somewhat reassuringly that even the French are as hesitant as we when it comes to nitty-gritty copulation.

Parts of the film are quite amusing. There's a great bit of Madison Avenue huckstering on how to sell chastity belts; some lovely moments when a happy hooker autographs her latest book of revelations and the local ladies of the evening take exception, and a truly drooly performance by Beatrice Romand as a hip salesgirl who handles her duties in the sex shop as if she were behind the cosmetics counter at Macy's.

In Point Pleasant, Pa. The Unique Christmas and Craft Shop Chock Full of Original Designs

Reprinted From . . . TOWN TOPICS, August 30, 1973

IT'S NEW To Us

LOOKING TO CHRISTMAS

At The Cracker Box. On a rule up the beautiful Pennsylvania side of the Delaware River we visited one of the most unique stores we've ever seen. The Cracker Box in Point Pleasant, Pa., is filled with original kits and supplies for making gifts and Christmas decorations.

Walter Williams and Paul Kane, the owners together with an assistant have designed and packed 250 different kits ranging in price from 80 cents to $20. The store has so many tempting suggestions that deciding where to begin can be agonizing. We finally chose the Christmas decorations.

There are kits for a variety of beautiful decorated satin balls which include all necessary materials (except for the pins and glue), directions, [illegible] and even a pattern when cut-outs are needed. Depending upon the number of pins, ribbons, etc., the balls take [illegible] short a time as an hour to be completed.

We particularly admired a white ball with a poinsettia design that has 700 pins and takes five hours to make, $1.95. A set of these would certainly make a lovely gift. Throughout the store a concern for children is evident, and two balls requiring no pins can quickly and safely be made for $1.69.

Candles, Santas, Trees

Other Christmas kits included a jeweled candle, which can be lighted, as only the center shaft will burn, $4.95, a table decoration called an "old fashioned Christmas" which contains a miniature skating scene with cars, trees and deer, $6.50; a bearded Santa to be hung on a tree, easy enough for a child to make, $1.62; the musical store of Silent Night to decorate a piano, $2.79, and tree skirts decorated with tree, balls, or gold angels, $4.95 to $14.95.

In addition to the Christmas items, there are kits for hand made gifts. One of the simplest, and yet loveliest, are the bookmarks. Beautiful imported ribbons from France are backed with felt and trimmed with braid and tassels. Four bookmarks come in a kit [illegible] $1.50 to $2.50.

Then we admired placemats with [illegible] rings. They are made of felt backed [illegible] so they can be wiped clean with a soapy sponge. The designs include an owl, mushrooms and a many colored beautiful butterfly. One mat and matching ring is $1.98.

Wastebaskets, address books, Raggedy Ann and Andy wall hangings, and a jeweled bull with a rose in his mouth, $2.50 to $5.98, are some of the other kits. But the most fascinating is a wooden wall plaque of an owl made from sunflower seeds, pine cone pieces, and [illegible]. Only the jeweled eye is artificial, and the result is particularly handsome, $2.98.

Prefer Your Own Gift. While Messrs. Williams and Kane enjoy making their kits, they also believe in encouraging the imagination. Therefore every item found in the kits is also sold separately, and they are happy to help you develop your own thoughts. However, they prefer that you seek help [illegible] the week when they have more free time.

[illegible] the components we saw 67 different beads, rolls of washable velvet trim (also great for [illegible]), yards of imported ribbons and trims, miniature animals and people, German papers of gold braid, Santas and angels that are copies of originals, felt pieces in several dozen colors, and Christmas foliage and fruits.

For those who love unique handmade items but [illegible] wish to make them, the store has some marvelous [illegible]. There is a cast iron sleigh, decorated gold or silver, $8.95; three different artificial wreaths containing 481 pieces of foliage, red band, [illegible] birds, berries or flowers, $18; and a ceramic balloon covered with gold and pearls that makes a delightful candy dish, $25.

Then the piece de resistance of the store [illegible] little red riding hood. An 83 year old woman makes this doll, which when turned upside down, reverses to the grandmother dressed in a patchwork calico print dress. Finally, remove the granny bonnet, and there is the big bad wolf. All the clothes are removable and everything including the doll is washable, $20.

While the emphasis at the Cracker Box is currently on Christmas for it is not too early to begin making gifts, the store does have special kits for other holidays, and any month of the year it is well worth the drive.

assisted the University in launching its coeducational program in the fall of 1969. The buildings memorialize Mrs. Rockefeller's lifelong concern for providing improved educational opportunities for women and for black students.

The buildings provide apartment living for 220 men and women students — the first on-campus apartments for Princeton undergraduates. They are set in a naturally wooded landscape in the southwest corner of the Princeton campus.

Spelman Halls were built at a cost of $3,350,000, to help fill the housing needs of an expanded coeducational student body; the University this year has approximately 1,100 women and 3,100 men enrolled as undergraduates, an overall increase of about a thousand since becoming coeducational four years ago.

58 Apartments. At the Saturday morning dedication program, to be held at the new apartments, the speakers will be Princeton President William G. Bowen; R. Manning Brown, chairman of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees; Mr. Rockefeller; and President Albert E. Manley of Spelman College in Atlanta Ga., the first American college for black women in whose founding some 90 years ago Mrs. Rockefeller played a key role.

Each apartment is a complete living unit with a living and dining area, outside balcony, full kitchen, bath, and, typically, four private study bedrooms. Six apartments adjacent to the building arcades have a single, larger bedroom, and are for student married couples.

The entry stairway, opening the full height of the building and skylighted, relates the House unit to the pedestrian street, and forms the dominant architectural element around which each House is organized.

MODEL TRAINS TO ROLL

At Rocky Hill Show. The Pacific Southern Railway, one of the world's largest model railroads, will hold its tenth annual Railroad Exhibition in Rocky Hill the first two weekends in December.

The Circus Train, highlight of last year's show, has been expanded and many more "ferocious animals" will be seen riding the rails. An added feature will be a parade of famous "Name Trains" of the past. By arrangement with Alco Models, Inc. of Port Jefferson, N.Y., models of four Alco Golden Century Diesel Engines will also be seen.

The Railroad Show is scheduled for Saturdays and Sundays, December 1, 2, and 8, 9, with performances every hour on the hour from noon until 5. Special limited admission reserve shows will also be given on both Saturdays at 9, 10 and 11 a.m.

Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children, with proceeds donated to the Princeton "Y" Building Fund and to the Rocky Hill Fire and Rescue Squads, from whom admission tickets are available. Tickets are also available at various hobby shops. For further ticket information, call the railroad, 921-9276.

FOOD DONATIONS SOUGHT

SPORTS Go-Round

by JOHN SUTTON

Did you know that amateur wrestling at one time could last up to eleven hours? Before new rules for amateur wrestling were made, contestants could be locked in holds for so long that matches might be extended indefinitely! Today, however, rules have been changed so that the sport measures speed as well as endurance and agility as much as strength. Today's wrestler must be a master of surprise as well as a prodigy of strength.

AT SPORTS 'N' THINGS, Montgomery Shopping Center, Rt. 206 & 518, 924-8162, you'll find knowledgeable personal service as well as a complete line of sporting equipment. We feature a full bicycle service and all our bikes are sold assembled. Master Charge, Bank Americard honored. Open: 10-6 Mon.-Wed.; 10-9 Thurs., Fri.; 10-6 Sat.; 10-2 Sun.

HELPFUL HINT: No doorbell? Check the batteries, most often simple replacement will restore chimes.

Public, Are You There?

Monday night, Borough and Township administrators held informal public hearings on departmental budgets — road work, police, tax department and so on. The combined audience of taxpayers at both hearings was easy to count on one hand (one interested observer was an infant).

These pre-hearings were designed to overcome a basic flaw in municipal budgeting: by the time of the formal, legal hearing in late winter, the budget has usually been frozen and is hard to change.

Pre-hearings, officials say, give Princeton's taxpayers a chance to make their views known. The budgets, line for line, are in municipal halls for study. But as one in the audience said, peering at a line item:

"How can we comment intelligently on a department's need to replace an old typewriter."

GUIDE REVISION PLANNED

In West Windsor. Six years ago citizens of West Windsor Township published a governmental guide entitled "Know Your Township."

This year the West Windsor Unit of the Princeton Area League of Women Voters is working to update that guide. So much has happened in the intervening time, however, that the LWV has found that it practically has to start from scratch.

In the past six years the West Windsor school system has been regionalized with Plainsboro, and students are being phased out of Princeton High School and into the new high school in West Windsor. Mercer County Junior College and Mercer County Central Park have been located in West Windsor.

A First Aid squad has been established. The Police Department has developed from a part time to fully staffed force. New Industrial parks and housing have sprouted like potato spuds. The population has skyrocketed.

So dramatic are the changes that the League of Women Voters' first task is to determine exactly what West Windsor residents feel should be included in the new guide.

Past History Too. Susan Stanbury, chairman of the guidebook committee, welcomes any suggestions, which may be sent or telephoned to her at 9 Fieldston Road, Princeton, 452-8243.

The League also is interested in hearing about the historical background of West Windsor from long time residents.

Photographs of people and places, especially from the early days, are especially welcomed. Information on League meetings may be obtained by calling Sally Stillwell at 799-0772.

BENEFIT FILM PLANNED

For Basketball League. Montgomery Little Lads Basketball League is holding a benefit movie in cooperation with the Montgomery Center Theater in the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206.

The movie, "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," stars Dick Van Dyke, Sally Ann Howe, and a very eccentric car. The first showing will be held Saturday at 1:45 and the second on Sunday at 1:45. There will be a $1 donation.

The Little Lads Basketball League is open to all boys in Montgomery Township and Rocky Hill from grades three through eight. Proceeds will help to sustain this program.

To benefit the League, tickets must be purchased in advance from any Little Lad or by calling 359-8458.

50 STUDENTS REGISTER

With Montgomery Y E S. More than 50 students have registered with the Youth Employment Service of Montgomery Township at Montgomery Township at Montgomery High School.

Their names were added to the files of previously registered students between the ages of 14 and 18 years old who are interested in finding jobs. The students register by filling out forms and checking their employment interests and abilities.

The employment interests and skills cover a wide range — from tutoring in all academic subjects as well as musical instruments, to drafting, photography, waiting, clerking with good typing skills, handymen, babysitting, snow shoveling, leaf raking, and party helpieng.

Businessmen and residents who need to find part-time and temporary help in almost any category should call the YES office on school days between 3 and 5 p.m. at 359-5800. Qualified young people will be contacted to fill the job.

ART
In Princeton

At Gallery 100. The use of collage as an art technique was initiated by Picasso in an early cubist painting. This was done by applying a piece of printed oilcloth to the surface of a still life.

Through succeeding decades, the application of different materials to the surface of a painting became a more highly developed technique until it qualified as a respected medium. Collage techniques have employed everything from paper and fabric to edibles, moveables and self-destructing substances.

In her current exhibit at Gallery 100, artist Lau Chen employs collage in an expressive, restrained fashion. Making use of the landscape of Hawaii, her home, she creates a collection that is notable for its harmonious balance. Using nature forms, including rocks and trees, subtly-toned, delicate compositions are created from shapes carefully wrought from tinted papers.

Ms. Chen employs a variety of hand-made, toned papers in her work. Surface textures, translucent effects and natural tones are complemented with paints, dyed and decorated papers and the textures of the canvas support. The textured silhouette created by torn paper edges adds to the total effect.

Watercolors are also included in this exhibit. In her paintings, the artist is faithful to her original themes and portrays her local landscape, trees and rocks. The medium, however, does not lend itself as readily to the artistic goals as defined by the artist.

At the Eye for Art. Printmaker Richard Kemble has been consistently innovative in his art. He has worked in wood for many years, but always manages to create a greater depth in this highly controlled medium by new inking techniques and personalized design approaches. The present exhibit of his work at the Eye for Art is no exception.

Kemble's prior work has always been soft edged, geometric compositions. A recent stay in Yucatan has altered his entire artistic approach. Profoundly influenced by his surroundings, he has created a series of prints that are dominated by a Mexican motif.

Figurative and architectural patterns are used, alone and in combination. They are Pre-Columbian in essence and convey the same mixture of sophistication and primitive charm that exists in the early Mexican sculpture.

Silhouette is used frequently as a major element in the design. The dynamic shapes of the figures contrast strongly with the powerful weight of architectural forms.

Color and texture are also used to intensify the effects. The entire collection is developed in a variety of earth tones that contribute to the overall effect. Kemble has again developed a special way of using his ink and the surface is textured with a mixture of antiqued browns and gold which combine richly to heighten the statement.

AT EYE FOR ART: Prints dominoted by a Mexican matif are on view at 7 Spring Street. Richard Kemble is the artist.

At the Drawing Room. The hands of the clock turn backward for a brief and pleasant interlude at the Howard Russell Butler exhibit. Paintings by this businessman-turned-artist cover many years and many locales.

Butler traveled widely throughout this country and was never far from palette and brush. The results are a collection of richly painted oils and pastel drawings recording his images of California, Maine, the Southwest, as well as some glimpses into other American locales.

Both the style and many of the details are representative of his era. The work is highly representational with color and brushwork which elevates it above purely illustrative work. Within the many landscapes are figures attired in fashions of their day, dating the work in a most charming manner.

Watercolors by H.R. Butler, Jr. provide delicate contrast to the more vigorous oils. Light wash drawings of local and distant scenes are often whimsical American genre. Skating on Lake Carnegie and a view of a train wreck at the Junction are among the local vistas.

—Helen Schwartz

OILS IN EXHIBIT

At Susuki. A trip around the world is currently being offered at 32 Main Street, Kingston. On display at Susuki are the charming, precise canvases of Herman Fleet, a self-taught primitive artist from Texas.

With an obvious fascination for architectural design, Mr. Fleet's oils are concise and meticulous and his style sophisticatedly naive. He spent a year living in Europe and captured enchanting scenes of Venice, Amsterdam, Florence, Kyoto, Segovia and Rome.

There are also numerous views of New York where he is currently living. The artist's works are in important collections all over the world. The show will be at Susuki Ltd. through Wednesday, November 21.

. . . FROM AFRICA

Show at Present Day. Prints inspired by the artist's stay in Africa are on display at The Present Day Club, 72 Stockton. The artist, Elizabeth Monath, has had shows before at the Club, and also at Stuart Gallery in Princeton Country Day School.

Her show at The Present Day Club will be open to public view Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon, or by appointment with a call to 924-1014.

The artist received her training in Vienna and Paris and is represented in various private collections and in the United Nations headquarters in New York.

ART EXHIBIT PLANNED

By Gallery of Fine Arts.

A special exhibit by artists of national and international note has been arranged by the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art for the grand ballroom of the Trenton War Memorial Auditorium for the patrons, sponsors, and benefactors reception to follow the Saturday performance of Peter Nero's composition "Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl."

The centerpiece will be a bronze portrait of George Gershwin by George Anthonisen. Mr. Nero will solo with the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra in a Gershwin medley preceding the Anne Frank performance). The artist's copy is owned by Ira Gershwin.

Also on display will be a large bronze relief figure of a man representing a refugee called "Displaced" by nationally recognized sculptress Dorothea Greenbaum and the semi-abstract "Fascist Invasion" done by Werner Drewes, a prominent member of the Bauhaus school, after the 1939 German invasion of Poland.

Other well known painters to be represented are Thomas George, Wolf Kahn, Reginald Neal, Louis Bosa, Gregorio Prestopino, and Stefan Marin. Sculpture will include other works of Mrs. Greenbaum, Anthonisen, and James Kearns.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell. In TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads and better results.

100 TONS A MONTH

ETS Recycles Paper. Educational Testing Service is embarked on an ambitious recycling project with a double payoff — for the environment and for ETS itself.

A mammoth mechanical shredder, specially designed for the purpose, is chewing up test booklets, computer cards, cardboard cartons and other waste paper for recycling, at the rate of 100 tons per month.

The shredder, installed at ETS' PAMD plant in Ewing Township, cuts pre-sorted paper material into small pieces and packs them into 1,000-pound bales under 2,000 pounds of pressure. From the ETS plant, the bales are taken to paper dealers in New York City or Philadelphia for recycling.

"ETS is delighted to play a part in protecting the environment," said president William W. Turnbull. In operation for more than a year, the shredder has solved a long-standing disposal problem as well as allowing ETS to play a role in the effort to protect the environment.

Disposal of used and unused test booklets has always been a problem for ETS, because the booklets must be destroyed under rigid security requirements.

Before the shredder went into operation, test booklets were trucked to a scrap dealer under the watchful eye of an ETS guard, who followed the truck to see that its contents did not scatter, and witnessed the entire shredding operation.

Now test booklets are shredded and baled right on ETS premises, with the end product entirely safe from recognition of the original contents.

Under its recycling program, ETS is also shredding all other waste paper where separation by grade or type of paper is practical.

For unseparated trash, ETS uses a disposal service which will soon begin to truck the trash collection to a northern New Jersey plant to be sorted and subsequently recycled.

HUN PLANS MUSICAL

To Present "Here's Love."

The Hun School Music and Drama Departments will be joining forces to present Meredith Willson's sparkling musical, "Here's Love." The story is based on the "Miracle on 34th Street."

Director Gregory Goida has announced December 13, 14 and 15 as production dates featuring Jane Schwab as Doris Walker, Eric Sutherland as Kris Kringle, Dennis Warwick as Fred Gailey, David Eisenstein as Marvin Shellhammer and Kirsten Goida as Susan Walker. In the Broadway production, such personalities as Janice Page, Craig Stevens and Fred Gwynn starred. Both the Junior and Upper Schools will be participating.

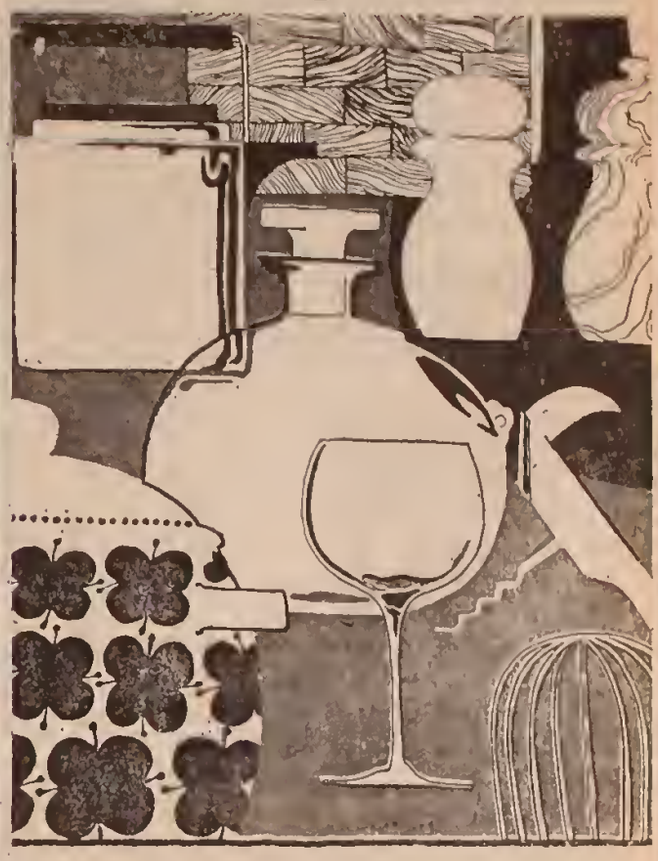
The Barn's 24th Birthday Sale.


24 years ago we had a great idea. It's called the Pottery Barn. We decided to sell beautifully designed, contemporary homeware, of fine quality at reasonable prices. And did our idea work? You bet it did! We have seven stores, and the Barns in Princeton and California are healthy one-year olds. How to celebrate this bevy of birthdays? The Barn way, with a whopping, wonderful, storewide sale. This is the first time in our history where everything in our store will be price-slashed from 10% to 50%. Flatware, dinnerware, glassware, cookware, vases, planters, casseroles—everything we sell will be reduced for our birthday celebration. You could also save money on your Christmas shopping. It's our way of saying thanks for helping us grow. Hurry to the Barn's Birthday sale. No party lasts forever, and this one ends on November 18.
10% to 50% off everything. One week only.
N. Y. stores and Princeton open Thursday night.

News Of Clubs and Organizations

The Parents' Confidential Statement, used each year by more than 1,000,000 parents applying for financial aid for their children's college education, will be the subject of a workshop at Princeton High School at 8 p.m. on Monday. Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization, the Financial Aid Workshop is the first of a series to give Princeton parents and students information and guidance about the often complicated process of applying for college.
Miss Marjorie E. Schoepps, a financial aid expert at Educational Testing Service, will explain the PCS and describe procedures for filling it out. Miss Schoepps is program director for the College Scholarship Service, which is administered by Educational Testing Service for the College Entrance Examination Board.

The Princeton Jaycees will hold an orientation and membership meeting on Wednesday, November 21, at 7:30 at the Dorothea House, 120 John Street. The Jaycees offer young men both personal growth and leadership training through Community service. All interested men between 18 and 35 are welcome.

The Princeton Chapter of the United Jewish Appeal will begin its 1974 Fund Drive this Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Princeton Jewish Center. Speaking will be Dr. Henry Abrams, who recently returned from service as a volunteer physician in Hadassah Hospital in Jerusalem during the Mid East War. The fund drive is beginning early this year because of the economic crisis in Israel caused by the war.

"Sights and Sounds of Christmas" will be the theme of the Hopewell Valley Garden Club's standard greens and flower show to be held Friday, December 7, from 2 to 8:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church in Hopewell.
An artistic arrangement class, calling for a front door decoration containing mainly fresh plant material, is open to public competition. Anyone wishing to enter should call Mrs. George K. Hall Jr. at 466-0972.
Also open to the public is competition in two junior age groups, 7-10 and 11-4. For further information call Mrs. Robert Fetler, 466-0141. The public is also invited to compete in an arrangement portraying Clement Moore's poem, "Not a Creature is Stirring." For information call Mrs. Herman Espenhurst, 466-2047.

The Radcliffe Club of Princeton officers for 1973-74: president, Mrs. Joseph M. Lynch; vice-president college affairs, Mrs. Christopher Malone, Jr.; vice president, social activities, Mrs. Elwood W. Phares II; treasurer, Mrs. G. P. Volpp; secretary, Mrs. Mathilde F. Finch. Traditional holiday season baking session to be conducted on December 6.

The Princeton Section of the American Chemical Society will meet Thursday at 6 at the Nassau Inn for dinner and the election of officers. At 8:15 Professor John Turkevich of the Department of Chemistry at Princeton University will speak in Room 309 of the Frick Laboratory on the subject, "Soviet Science from the American Point of View." For dinner reservations call 452-3918.

Dr. Katherine Zworykin of 103 Battle Road Circle will speak to the Study Group of the Women's College Club of Princeton on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. Her topic will be, "Shakespearean Women." Dr. Zworykin is a graduate of The Medical College of Petrograd, Russia and a former Professor of the University of Pennsylvania School of Dentistry.

James B. Hughes, Patron Relations Analyst, will speak on "The World Trade Center" to the Women's College Club of Princeton on Monday at 8 p.m. at All Saint's Church. Mr. Hughes is in the Patron Relations Section of the Port Authority's Public Affairs Department.

CLOTHES WITH STYLE

At Jack's Custom Shop. Stylish without being outlandish describes the clothing at Jack's Custom Shop, where we saw glen plaid three-piece suits, sweater vests, white collar shirts and leather jackets.

The store has a huge selection of acrylic washable sweaters. By Europecraft there are Italian v-neck sweaters in wine, brown, green or grey in a vest style, $10, or with long sleeves, $15. The same sweater is also available with sleeves and the newer scooped neckline or in a ribbed turtleneck, $15 each.

IN STYLE FOR MEN. A deep-tone red sportshirt topped by a navy and red patterned sweater vest is shown by Moory Rozonsky of Jack's Custom Shops, Montgomery Shopping Center.

We also saw patterned sweaters such as a green round necked vest with a red and light green dot design, $9. Then with the vest look Sun Downer makes the same sweater with dark green sleeves and turtleneck, $11. Another, by Europecraft is a v-neck sweater vest in a natural color with an overplaid of brown, green, navy or burgundy, $14.

To wear under these patterned vests, Jack's has solid sportshirts with button cuffs in nine colors, $17. Other sportshirts come in bold abstract patterns. In addition there are dress shirts in solids including a blue denim, $11; stripes; and even a red or brown shirt with white dots tapped by a white collar and cuffs, $11.

Emphasis on Glen Plaids. The suits by Hammonton Park and Eagle Clothes are varied from a sand colored corduroy to a dark blue wool with a two tone blue stripe. This year the emphasis is on glen plaids, and we saw a subtle orange and brown plaid and a nice grey and blue one. The suits range in price from $100 to $185, with more expensive custom suits in worsteds and woolens also available.

Among the sportcoats we saw more glen plaids such as a bold black, orange and mustard one, $70; a red and green tartan plaid already waiting for Christmas, $80; and a green or blue velvet sportcoat, $85.

There is also a wide choice of slacks such as polyester knit ones by Sans A Belt, the pants with an inner waistband of elasticized material to make them stay put, $32.50. By Lee there are other polyester knit pants in several colors, $17, and by Daks we saw a green and blue wool tartan with a large yellow overplaid, $42.50.

Jack's Custom Shops also has London Fog coats. A brown and rust glen plaid one in a polyester knit material is double breasted with wide lapels, tab shoulders a belt, and a zip-out lining, $120. Then the same style in the traditional tan raincoat fabric is $73.50.

In leather the store has pig skin suede jackets in a chamois color. Made in Spain, a shirt jacket is $100 and a double-breasted car coat is $160.

Jack's Custom Shops is located in the Montgomery Shopping Center, Route 518, and is open Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday from 10 to 5:30 and on Monday, Thursday and Friday from 10 until 9 at night.

SLEEP SOFA BARGAINS

At Nassau Interiors. About once a year Nassau Interiors offers people in the Princeton area an opportunity to buy a sleep sofa at very reasonable price. This is made possible by buying in lot or by offering discontinued fabrics. Recently a truckload of 30 to 35 such sofas arrived.

Many of them are upholstered in herculon fabrics making them perfect for a playroom or den. A three-pillow loose cushion back sofa comes in a brown or green tweed, a red and blue plaid, or a quilted blue and green floral print. They had been $499, but are now $369 and they all convert to a queen-sized bed.

Other sleep sofas come in a Tuxedo style and a few have contemporary lines. There is even a loveseat that converts to a single bed, $249. However, one of the nicest features about these sofas is that delivery is immediate.

Nassau Interiors has a sofa and loveseat combination that they are very pleased with. They are perfect together in today's larger livingrooms, and because they are separate pieces, there is flexibility for future arrangements. Both pieces come in a choice of several corduroy fabrics, sofa $399 and loveseat $299.

Hi-Lo Table. Wandering around the store we saw many very unusual pieces such as a hi lo table. This is a 40-inch round oak coffee table with a parquet design that can be raised to 29 inches when it's time for cards or a casual supper in the living room. $229.

Then we saw a set of four red gingham snack tables, $65; a next of four wooden tables with glass tops, $149; and a mahogany floor lamp with its own table bordered by small brass railings, $170.

Nassau Interiors has a wide choice of ginger jar lamps and also lots of the jars which they will make into a lamp for you. We saw a small white lamp with a daffodil print, $23.50 and a larger while one with a coral Chinese design, $69.

Nassau Interiors has a design service where anyone of the staff members will go to your house and work with you on specific rooms or problems. The store at 162 Nassau Street is open Monday to Friday from 9 to 5:30 and on Saturdays from 9 until 5.

AND NEXT DOOR AT 164 The Mouse Has a Candle Sale. It is always a pleasure to enter the Country Mouse, with its burning candles and smell of incense, to browse through the many novelties. Currently, an added reason for going is an excellent candle sale.

Large cylinder candles, Lenox seconds, come in every imaginable color and are only $1.50 instead of the usual $3. Candle rings of fruit, fall flowers or even some Christmas holly are also on sale, $1.95.

Or you can try making your own candles. The wax in many colors, packaged with the wick and anchors, is now only 69 cents.

Country Mouse always has a large choice of unusual greeting cards and notepapers. We especially liked the swiss cheese — yellow with holes — writing paper and envelopes, 89 cents each.

Then of course, there are all the Country Mouse items designed by owner, Sam McDowell. We saw the mouse sitting under a large mushroom, bicycling, and flying a plane. There are invitations, napkins, cards, writing paper, and even a t shirt featuring the mouse.

The store is varied with everything from incense and Gypsy Witch fortune telling playing cards, $2, to American miniature bottles in gold, blue or red, 4 for $1, and a small pottery hanging planter, $4.25.

There is a neat kaleidoscope that does not have glass chips inside but instead angles and turns upside down whatever you look at in the room. $2.95. We also liked the framed pictures with a short subject description, mainly flowers but there is one of a large hero sandwich with the full recipe underneath.

Country Mouse is also carrying a pewter reproduction line by Woodbury Pewterers, and we admired the round wall sconces which hold a candle, $26, a pair, and a covered pitcher on its own dish, $16.

We also liked the motion mobiles of chrome balls on thin wires which move easily and are fascinating to watch. There is one of the planets $2.50, and one of Satellites, $5.

Country Mouse is at 164 Nassau Street and is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 to 5:30.

Any Reason Why a Man Can't Learn to Sew?

"You're KIDDING!"

What else would you expect a sewing teacher to say to a burly male customer who wants to learn to sew? Actually, when Don Blankenbush, Princeton High history teacher, walked into the Singer Sewing Machine store on Nassau, he only wanted to buy a machine and learn how to run it so he could make kites.

But Barbara Hill, an awesome sales-person as well as a sewing teacher, said well why not learn, really learn, how to sew.

It was this summer on Nantucket that Don Blankenbush took off into the blue about kites. What he'd really like is to invent a marketable kite and reel in a little spare cash. With a sewing machine and some lightweight cotton (currently a red white-blue print visible from outer space), he just may invent a soaring success.

His new machine is geared to brainstitch, zig zag and flex itself into a couple of special stitches for knit fabrics and that could mean QUITE a kite.

But first, in sewing class, he made himself an eye bogaling paisley vest (fitted and lined, if you please) and he's now working himself up to wand a shirt or jacket.

THE TEACHER AS PUPIL: PHS history teacher Don Blankenbush sits at the console of a Singer sewing machine for a pointer or two from Teacher, it's Mrs. Barbara Hill, explaining the ways of needle, thread and fabric.

In class, where he's pupil instead of teacher for a change, he has to learn about fabrics, how to baste, what to do with stitches, how to handle certain needles and threads. Mrs. Hill says he's a really great pupil, pleasant and easy to work with.

"Sewing is very relaxing," says Mr. Blankenbush, snipping a thread, "when I get up tight, I just pull out the machine."

HOUSE TOUR PLANNED

With Christmas Theme, Mrs. Donald Pickering and Mrs. Orville Petty will head the committee for "Christmas in Princeton", a tour of six distinguished residences and a musical conservatory.

The tour, which also features Christmas Shops at the Hun School, will take place Tuesday, December 4. This benefit is sponsored by the Association of the New Jersey Neuro Psychiatric Institute at Skillman with all proceeds used for patients or special projects at the Institute.

Morven, the 1701 Colonial residence of New Jersey Governors; Walter Lowrie House, the historic Stockton Street mansion built in 1845 and now the home of President William G. Bowen and Mrs. Bowen, are on this year's tour. So is the contemporary home of Mr. and Mrs. William Turnbull which is located on a high wooded bank overlooking Stony Brook. Also on tour is the Georgian brick house of Mr. and Mrs. James McKennon which is furnished with French antique furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Crawford have just completed their salmon brick French-style home which combines 17th century elegance with the refinements of 20th century technology. This residence will be on the tour along with the Library Place home of Mrs. Philip Yeatman, which was once occupied by the Woodrow Wilsons.

The music studio "The Supplement," owned by Dr. and Mrs. Lee H. Bristol, Jr. which is filled with musical memorabilia, including the desk at which Dr. Bristol's ancestor Thomas Hastings composed the hymn "Rock of Ages", is an addition to the tour this year.

PUT ON PROBATION

For Assault and Battery, Rodney Petty, 19 Bank Street was fined $60 and put on probation for six months by Judge Philip Carchman last week in Borough criminal court. Petty had pleaded guilty to assaulting a University Store manager.

Myles P. Nash, also of 19 Bank was fined $15 for trespassing while Peter W. Becker, 32 Jefferson Road was placed on probation for one year for possession and use of marijuana.

Stanley Klein, 54 Harris Road, charged with assault and battery, and James Hall, One Mile Road, Cranbury, charged with two counts of assault and three of trespassing will be sentenced in December. An account of the charges against each was sent by Judge Carchman to the Mercer County Probation Department for a pre-sentence investigation.

MORE PARKING PROVIDED

For Commuters at Junction. An additional 360 parking spaces are available for commuters at the Penn Central Railroad passenger station at Princeton Junction, with the opening of a new parking lot.

Lack of sufficient parking spaces in the area has forced many commuters to resort to unauthorized parking on nearby streets. The new $380,000 blacktop facility will relieve the street parking problem. With 800 spaces available in the commercial lots, the new facility will bring to 1,161 the total parking spaces available for commuters.

There is nighttime illumination in the lot and on new stairs and pedestrian ramps leading to the platform. A 1,200-foot access road, which will become a local street, has been constructed to connect the new lot with Alexander Road.

The new parking lot is being financed with public transportation funds from the 1968 Transportation Bond Issue. It will be operated and maintained by the West Windsor Parking Authority as a non-profit facility under a State agreement, with all parking fees collected being used to maintain the facility.

HOLIDAY FAIR RETURNS

To Trinity Church. The Trinity Christmas Fair returns after more than 10 years absence Saturday, November 24, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Parish House, 33 Mercer Street.

A special feature of the fair will be bidding by silent auction for a miniature highboy, handmade and donated by Redmond Marrow, for many years sexton of Trinity Church and a craftsman of miniature furniture. This piece is an exact copy of a Philadelphia Chippendale heirloom owned by a member of the parish.

A water-color of the church, painted by Donald Werdon, has also been presented for the auction.

Other homemade items that will be for sale include dollhouses and furniture; tree decorations; dried arrangements and greens; needlepoint, much of which is the work of Princeton professional men; knitting; arts and crafts, including imported items from Alaska and Indonesia; and gourmet foods and baked goods.

Trinity teenagers will sell wild rice from the Chippewa Indians of northern Minnesota. Most of the profits will be donated to the reservation. Some will help finance a trip by Trinity youth members who will visit the reservation and work there next summer.

Children's Area. Downstairs from the main fair display, a special section for children will feature games; movies starting every hour, and costing a nominal admission; and a special Christmas shop for the youngsters.

A cafe will serve lunches.

From 3 to 5 p.m., the members of Trinity's Adult Choir will host a tea in the Library. All fairgoers are invited.

SHOPPING SPREE SET

By Twin W-First Aid Squad. On Saturday, November 17, from 11 to 5 the Twin W-First Aid Squad of West Windsor Township will sponsor a holiday shopping spree at the Dutch Neck Sunday School.

The event will feature a Junior section where youngsters are invited to bring their holiday shopping lists and select gifts, all priced under $1. All the gifts in the junior section will be wrapped, and Santa will send one of his representatives to help and talk to the children.

The spree is also featuring safe washable toys, homemade holiday goodies, arts and crafts, paintings, hand mades and decoupage. There will be plenty of parking and light refreshments will be served.

All profits will go to support the Twin W Squad, which provides first aid care to West Windsor Township.

CIVIC GROUP FORMED

In Stuart Hill. Residents of Stuart Hill and vicinity in Princeton Township have formed the Stuart Hill Association, with the objective of stimulating active participation of its members in matters concerning the general character and interest of the neighborhood.

The Association will monitor matters of interest to its members and ensure timely dissemination of information to the group. The Association also will interact with local and public governing agencies to seek information, convey the consensus of its membership and recommend appropriate actions.

At its inaugural meeting, the members of the Association elected their first Executive Board: Martin Mobach, President; Robert Gorman, First Vice President; Jeanie Large, Second Vice President; George Wilson, Treasurer, and Robert Abernethy, Secretary.

STORY HOUR SET

At Princeton Library. As part of the celebration of Children's Book Week a special story hour will be held Friday at 3:30 at Princeton Public Library. Children ages 6 to 12 will be welcomed to a Japanese - American Story Hour.

Japanese folk and fairy tales will be presented by Mrs. Dudley Carlson, children's librarian, and Mrs. Aya Yasumitsu of Kyoto, Japan. The story hour will begin promptly at 3:30 and latecomers cannot be admitted.

FUND REACHES 41%

Long Way to Go. As of the latest report, the United Fund Red Cross Combined Campaign had received cash and pledges totaling 44 percent of the goal of $635,000, according to Charles Scholl, 1973 Campaign Chairman. Division captains were encouraged by the results to date but agreed that there was still a long way to go.

Foremost in their concern was the slow response to the neighborhood mailing which went to 17,000 homes in Princeton, Hightstown and the immediate surrounding areas several weeks ago.

About 20 percent of the goal in this division is in. Leaders urged all householders who received a letter, pledge card return envelope to make their contribution as soon as possible.

The division with the highest percentage of its goal attained is the one including data processing and management planning companies with 80 percent. Next highest in the results to date is Princeton University with more than 60 percent of its goal, research and industry with 41 percent, special gifts with 40 percent, and education with 40 percent.

The professions, mercantile, building trades and minors, and bank divisions rate next in order of returns.

Twenty Agencies. "In some areas we are ahead of last year's campaign and in some we are lagging behind" said Mr. Scholl. "The continuance of the 20 health, recreational and social service agencies, which are dependent in large measure upon the campaign, deserve the support of all our communities, their individuals, businesses and companies."

Signs indicating the weekly progress of the campaign are located in Palmer Square, Princeton, the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206, Main Street in Hightstown and at the Princeton Shopping Center.

THANKSGIVING MENU SET

For Senior Citizens. A special Thanksgiving back-to-school luncheon for senior citizens will be held at 1 Tuesday at Littlebrook School in Princeton. The $1 menu includes roast butterball turkey, giblet gravy, dressing, cranberry sauce, buttered green peas, mashed potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, and pumpkin or mince pie.

Reservations, which are essential, must be made by calling the Red Cross, 924-2404, before 4:30 Friday.

Because school is closed on November 15 and 22, there will be no regular Back-to-School luncheons on those days.

Senior citizen luncheons were originated in early 1972 by Mrs. Barbara Hurley, Director of Food Services for the Princeton Regional School System. The project is being continued through the combined efforts of the Princeton Regional Schools, the Princeton Area Council of Community Services, and the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

RESIGNATION SUBMITTED

By Watershed's Director. Ian R. Walker, Executive Director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association since May 1970, has advised the trustees that he will resign his position with the Association on or before June 1, 1974, Board Chairman John Kuser has announced. According to Mr. Kuser, this is an internal matter and the board has not yet accepted Mr. Walker's resignation.

"It is in large part through Mr. Walker's efforts that the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association is recognized by many as the most effective organization of its kind in New Jersey," Mr. Kuser said. The National Watershed Congress named the Stony Brook-Millstone as the Watershed-of-the-Year for 1972.

"The Association has helped solve many problems in its area, is helping to guide sound development and will continue to help prevent the arrival of all the problems of spread city in this part of New Jersey," said Mr. Kuser. He concluded, "We want to continue these programs under Mr. Walker's able and active direction. I hope we can change his mind."

ARCHITECTURE STUDIES

By Seventh Graders. Thanks to the incentive provided by Princeton architect Thomas Fulmer, a group of seventh graders is studying the profession of architecture as its Wednesday project.

Mr. Fulmer has donated eight copies of the book "Beginning Experiences in Architecture" to the school, and has arranged for its author, George Trogler, to address the art department teachers in January to explore the possibilities of introducting architecturally instructive projects into the regular arts program.

The seventh graders, under the direction of Middle School teacher Thomas McCord will visit the office of Fulmer and Bowers next Wednesday. Mr. Fulmer will lead a discussion centering of the firm's design for the Community Park School, a building familiar to the children.

John W. Kauffman, executive vice president at Princeton of The Medical Center, has received the Health Industry Association's (HIA) Health Care Achievement Award for 1973.

The honor, highest bestowed by the HIA, came as Kauffman entered the final months of his term as chairman of the American Hospital Association (AHA).

Presenting the award, HIA President Harold Bernthal praised the Princeton resident as "an outspoken and effective champion of hospitals. . . at a time of unprecedented pressure."

Mr. Kauffman, associated with The Medical Center since 1946, is the first New Jersey hospital official to assume leadership of the national hospital association.

John Apai has been installed as second vice-president of the Professional Photographers Association of New Jersey. Mr. Apai has formerly served the organization as third vice-president and editor of the news letter. He owns Clearose Studio in Princeton.

Jasper E. Parrella, 22 Chambers Street, has been elected to the New York Life Insurance's Agents Advisory Council.

Mr. Parrella, who is associated with the company's Trenton general office, joined New York Life in 1954. He became a Chartered Life Underwriter, the professional designation in the life insurance business, in 1963.

J. Robert Hillier, 87 Ridgeview Circle, has been elected vice-president of the New Jersey Society of Architects at the Society's recent convention held at the Playboy Club in McAfee.

In the past year Mr. Hillier's activities for the Society have centered around an economic survey of the architectural profession in the state and the structuring of a professional development program to further the professional goals of the members of the Society. During the past year, Mr. Hillier also served as treasurer of the Society.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Ever wonder how many separate plays a team gets in a football game? . . . In college football, teams average about 80 plays per game . . . In pro football, teams average about 70 plays per game.

Oddly enough, this season's Super Bowl game, which will be played in Houston, is NOT being played in Houston's most famous stadium, the Astrodome . . . Instead, it will be played at the University of Rice Stadium in Houston . . . The reason? . . . The Atrodome seats about 50,000 while Rice Stadium seats about 7,000 . . . At $15 per ticket, the National Football League can take in about $300,000 more by playing in Rice Stadium instead of the Astrodome.

Which was the first sports team ever to travel by airplane? . . . The University of New Mexico was first — but there's a humorous twist to the story . . . Back in 1929, New Mexico had a football game against Occidental College in Los Angeles, and New Mexico officials decided to make history by flying their team there . . . But Coach Roy Johnson cautiously sent only the second team and the student manager by air . . . He and the first team went by train!

You just can't afford to gamble on staying well for the rest of your life. The cost of being sick or hurt has gone up sharply. Check with me about our $100,000 excess major medical insurance policy.

Yale's Inconsistency Basis for Tigers' Dreams

Princeton University's troubled football team, which is still finding new ways to lose, will face Yale Saturday in Palmer Stadium aware that if it can somehow complete a game without making numerous costly mistakes, it may well record a major upset.

The Elis this weekend and Dartmouth next come here with a chance of earning at least a share of first place in the Ivy League. If the Orange and Black manages to eliminate the fumbles, interceptions and blocked kicks that have presented its opponents with more gift points than Santa Claus has elves, Princeton may yet have a hand in determining who wins the 1973 championship.

A victory in at least one of these games — over Yale, if Princeton has a choice—would take some of the bitter taste out of the dregs of the current season. Saturday's contest will mark the 100th anniversary of the rivalry with the Elis (see cover) and the Tigers need a triumph to prevent the Blue from becoming the first team in the long rivalry to whip the other seven straight times.

While the Princeton offense generated its first two touchdowns against Harvard Saturday since the triumph over Colgate on October 20, it was nonetheless almost wholly responsible for the 19-14 victory recorded by the Crimson. In addition to two costly fumbles the kicking game bogged down in horrendous fashion as the victors blocked three punts partially or solidly and a center snap sailed over the punter's head for an automatic safety when it was propelled clear out of the end zone. In the face of such a Jekyll-and-Hyde performance by this Princeton platoon, the stellar work credited to the often suspect Tiger defense went to no avail.

Now Coahe Bob Casciola's forces come into the Yale game hoping that they can finally field two platoons which will play good football on the same day. Having suffered a series of major disappointments in his first year, it would he a tremendous boost for the Tigers' new coach if he produced a victory over the Elis for the first time since 1966.

It will be a very difficult assignment — far more so than the task confronting Princeton the last time the Bulldogs came to town. That year, a good line was operating in front of Hank Bjorklund and Doug Blake, the Elis were a wholly unimpressive collection of ball players, and they still managed to win, 10 to 6.

Yale Unpredictable. Rated in a pre-season poll of Ivy League sports publicists as the choice to win the 1973 title, Yale ran into difficulty early. After a non-Ivy loss to Connecticut, the Blue was defeated in its league opener by Brown for the first time in a decade.

Triumphs over Columbia and Cornell followed, but a Dartmouth team that had been clearly subdued by the Elis in a pre-season scrimmage took their measure when they returned to Hanover in late October. Last week, a pass from wing back Don Gesicki to quarterback Tom Doyle provided the winning score in a 24-21, come - from - behind upset of Penn. To Eli fans wtih a good memory, the TD was poetic justice: in 1965, the Blue lost a touchdown on a similar play against Princeton because the quarterback was then an ineligible receiver, and the ruling cost Yale the ball game.

Doyle Is the Key. Much of the question of how Yale goes is answered by the kind of day Doyle is having. As a running quarterback, he is the Elis' total offense leader and leading scorer, and if he has trouble, so does his team. Rudy Green, with an average close to five yards per carry, is the workhorse ball carrier, but against Penn, he fumbled three times.

Defensively, the Elis often buy the time their offense needs, an achievement Princeton has rarely managed this fall. The Blue has allowed five touchdowns to Brown and three each to Dartmouth and Penn but nonetheless leads the league in stinginess with an average of just 240 yards per opponent. This contrasts to more than 300 that five Ivy teams have pried away from the Tigers.

If the wind does not hamper one of the teams at least half the time, the contest could include quite a field goal duel between the Tigers' Scott Morrison and senior Brian Clark of the visitors. Clarke's record this season is 8 out of 10, including a 38-yard effort that meant the margin of victory last week over Penn.

Yale has won its last two Palmer Stadium appearances on field goals. Clarke booted a 27 yard placement here in 1971, while a three-pointer with 3:06 to go gave the Yalies a 17-14 margin here in 1969. Morrison can kick farther than Clarke, but is not as accurate.

TIGERS WIN STATISTICS But Lose Another Game. As it had against Pennsylvania (to which it lost, 21-0), Princeton dominated the statistical battle at Cambridge Saturday but dropped its sixth game in seven this season. The score was closer but the frustration greater, because the Tigers had several chances to stage a major upset and gave the crucial ones away.

Added to the fumbles they made (seven, of which Harvard recovered three) were new-found troubles in the punting game. Anything but dependable all season long, it proved to be disastrous, as successively blocked punts set up the home team's two first-half touchdowns and an errant center snap just before the intermission shot over punter Bruce Hennemuth's head for two more points.

Trailing by a vital five points at the end of the day, the Tigers had otherwise largely outplayed the heavily-favored Cantabs. They could claim 19 first downs to 16 for the home team and 289 yards total offense to 251. The latter figure showed ability on the part of the Princeton defense to pare Harvard's attack more than 100 yards below its six game average, but once again, mistakes by the uncertain Tiger backfield put so much pressure on the defensive unit that the game was lost.

Operating out of a power I, to give Walt Snickenberger additional options, the Orange and Black had one of its best offensive days of the season. The Tigers' junior running back gained 159 yards in 32 carries for a fine 5.0 average, giving much his best performance against an Ivy opponent.

First TDs in Three Weeks. Ron Beible passed to tight end Bob Harding for a pair of touchdowns, the first that Princeton has scored since the last quarter of the Colgate game on October 20. He again completed more than half his passes (7 for 13) but added another intereception and has now been picked off six times this fall.

QUICK LOOK AT YALE

OFFENSE Erratic but explosive. Features running of Rudy Green and options executed by quarterback Tom Doyle.

DEFENSE Best in Ivy League. Major problem for Princeton because of fine pass rush.

CHIEF ASSET Imaginative attack, blended with desire to earn possible tie for Ivy title.

CHIEF PROBLEM Elis are no better than 4-3 overall as a result of tendency to play highly inconsistent football.

Ivy League Forecast

Yale over Princeton. Tigers can't eliminate mistakes.

Dartmouth over Cornell. On stronger running game.

Penn over Columbia. Lions are disorganized.

Harvard over Brown. But upset quite possible.

TIGER GETS THE LION'S SHARE: Walt Snickenberger, soiling through Harvard defense for eight yards here, gained 159 of Tigers' 212 yards rushing — and 16 more than total credited to all Harvard backs. Princeton errors, however, paved way for 19-14 Crimson triumph. (Bob Matthews Photo)

enberger's running mate, had his best day with 15 carries for 60 yards and will prove dangerous if the opposing defense keys on Snickenberger. Bath will be back next year but this is this year, and nothing is quite doing the treik.

Princeton scored first, going 87 yards in just eight plays against a strong wind that made passing difficult. The touchdown came easily when Beible hit Harding with an 11 yard pitch on the Crimson 22, the big end covering the rest of the distance untouched.

Nineteen Harvard points followed, 16 before the half ended. A field goal seconds before the third quarter came to a close was all the home team could manage for the rest of the day, and if the visitors had been able to hang onto the ball, it wouldn' have been enough.

One big opportunity went glimmering when the Tigers drove from their own 26 to the Harvard 9 as the second half opened, only to lose the ball when a pitchout from Beible to Reid was fumbled. In the final quarter, after going 80 yards in 14 plays to narrow the gap to 19-14, the Tigers gained possession on the Harvard 48 when the Crimson's sophomore fullback, Neal Miller dropped the ball.

Two plays later, a handoff from Beible to Snickenberger produced another Princeton fumble and the Crimson managed to kill nearly five minutes on the clock before punting. The Tigers had two chances to pull their feelbox special for the day — a pass thrown by Dave Mistretta in the guise of a running back but the first missed flanker Kerry Brown by inches and Mistretta was sacked for a nine yard loss on the next.

High atop the press box, the sportscaster for the Princeton University radio station, WPRB, reported: "The Princeton freshmen had a 14 point lead over the Harvard freshmen late in the fourth quarter, but they fumbled four times in the last five minutes, and Harvard won, 15 to 14. Those guys sure will be ready to play for the varsity."

It's been that kind of year for Princeton football.

SUNDAY SAILING RESULTS

McPherson, Henderson Win. The Carnegie Sailing Club held its annual Turkey Handicap races on Sunday, with Jim McPherson and John Henderson winning the turkeys. McPherson defeated nine other skippers in the Sunfish fleet while Walt Gibson and John Hopfield tied for second and Jack Kunz finished fourth. Henderson had the best showing among five Laser competitors, followed by Ed Metcalf and Bob Holzman.

The previous week, sunny skies and brisk breezes brought out 14 Sunfish and four Lasers. Tad LaFountain continued his winning ways in the Sunfish followed by Hopfield, Gibson, and Dick Jesser. Peter Bordes topped the Lasers, with Henderson second and Holzman third.

With three weeks left of the 1973 season, the fall standings have LaFountain securely in first place in the Sunfish fleet, followed by Gibson and Hopfield. In the Lasers, Metcalf is first, Bordes second, and Henderson third.

TWO PASS TESTS

Given by Skating Club. The Princeton Skating Club gave USFSA standard tests this month, with Eric Hertting passing his third figure test, and Miss Treby McLaughlin her second.

In October, Hertting and Miss McLaughlin took sixth place in the bronze dance event at the Mid-Atlantics. Miss McLaughlin also placed fourth in the special juvenile girls' event, and Rocky Marvel, also of PSC, placed second in the special juvenile boys event.

Later this month, Hertting, Miss McLaughlin and another PSC member, Miss Judy Greenberg, will enter the qualifying Regional South Atlantics in Pittsburgh.

PHS to Play Final Game at Trenton Saturday

BIG PHS GAIN: Rich Warfield grabs pass from PHS quarterback John Mooney far a 32-yard advance to the Notre Dame 14 with 38 second left. PHS was unable to score in four tries, however, and lost, 22-15, and ony hope of sharing the Mercer County Championship.

Officially, Princeton High School's football season will end Saturday when the Little Tigers travel to Trenton for a 1:30 contest with the Tornadoes, but in reality the season ended last week for the Blue and White when it was defeated, 22-15, by Notre Dame. The loss eliminated PHS from the race for the Mercer County League Championship and left it up for grabs between Notre Dame and Hamilton.

It was the second disappointment for PHS coach Dick Wood in a row. Disappointing not only to Wood but to the entire team because the opportunity was there for the Little Tigers to win it all. But the team that began the season with three consecutive league victories is not the same team that lost to the Irish.

The decline has been a puzzlement to followers of PHS, and the missed chance to grab the first "official" Mercer County Championship is all the more bitter because it seems certain that Princeton High, its male school population declining to the point where the school will soon be in the Group II class, cannot hope to continue to compete against such traditional Group IV schools as Trenton, Ewing and Steinert.

All that is left for PHS this year is a chance to atone for the 6-3 upset engineered by Trenton last year which prevented PHS from ending with a satisying 6-3 record. Trenton has won only two games this year under new coach Mark Bailey and PHS should be rated as a strong favorite.

However, the Little Tigers' offense has been erratic at best and comparative, scores mean little in any PHS-THS battle. Last year, for example, Trenton had failed to win a game before its upset win over Princeton.

PHS Gambles Early. That Wood was going to gamble against Notre Dame was evident early in the game. After John Costas of PHS had fumbled the opening kickoff on the 35, Notre Dame recovered but was unable to move. Tom Voyda, Mr. Everything for the Irish, punted out on the one.

Faced with a fourth and six, PHS lined up to punt, but an offside penalty against the Irish made it fourth and one instead. Wood decided to go for it. He sent fullback Jack Bayer into the line, Bayer was stopped short.

ND took over on the 10 and on the next play Voyda scored his 11th touchdown of the season. "It was a mistake," admitted Wood after the game. "I felt we had to try to control the ball; I didn't want Voyda carrying it," he explained. "How much did we need? Six inches. I thought we could make it."

An interception of a John Mooney pass by Voyda and a couple of holding penalties combined to keep PHS untracked but the Little Tigers grabbed the lead for the only time with dramatic suddeness with 9:30 left in the second period.

Bob Zinsmeister gathered in a Voyda punt around his own five on the run. He sped by a wall of tacklers that was forming and was off down the sidelines for a 95-yard return — his third kick return of the season and his tenth TD. Steve Tomlinson's kick was good and PHS led, 7-6.

Near the end of the half, a short, high punt by Princeton's Jeff Drummond gave ND the ball on the PHS 26. On a fourth and seven, Pete McDonald passed to Voyda for a first down on the 13 and four plays later, needing six yards, Tom Housman kicked a field goal from the 15 with 24 seconds left. His 25-yard kick cleared the cross bar by inches

Tomlinson Misses. Early in the second half, a pass interception by John Figueroa gave PHS the ball on the Irish 25. Mooney was unable to click with his passes and Tomlinson tried to put PHS in the lead by one with a field goal. He kicked it into the next county — but wide.

Notre Dame then took a commanding lead by scoring two touchdowns within two minutes in the third period. Voyda, who entered the game with 1057 yards rushing and who was to add 134 more against PHS, broke free down the sidelines for a 58-yard TD.

Exactly two minutes later with 4:11 left in the period McDonald teamed with halfback Dan DelVecchio for a 76-yard payoff play as DelVecchio got behind defender George Reynolds. "We knew about that pass play," said Wood after the game. "Reynolds just got beat. They didn't do anything we didn't expect."

Bayer Blocks Punt. Princeton's second six-pointer was set up when defensive end Jack Boyer partially blocked a Voyda punt in the final period and PHS recovered on the ND 41. Mooney guided the team in, completing passes to Rich Warfield and Mike Diamond en route. From the five, Mooney carried to the one on a keeper and Bayer plunged over for the score.

PHS picked up two points when Tomlinson faked a kick and the holder, John Madden, passed to Diamond for the conversion. That put PHS within seven, 22-15, and the chance — should it score again in the remaining 2:29 minutes to go for a tie or the win. Had PHS scored, Wood said that he would have opted for the tie, since he had already used his fake kick play.

As it was, PHS nearly had to make that decision. Using all its time outs in the process, PHS forced Voyda to kick the ball away with 60 seconds left. Reynolds returned it to the 47. Mooney connected with Diamond for his sixth completion in 18 attempts and then passed 32 yards to Warfield to the 14, Voyda coming up to make the saving tackle.

PHS had 38 seconds left. Four times Mooney threw, but his passes either failed to connect or were batted down. Final statistics gave ND a big edger in rushing, 192 to 78 yards, and although McDonald completed only three of six passes, the visitors nearly matched PHS in passing yardage. Mooney ended with seven completions in 23 tries. Each quarterback had one intercepted.

"I thought we did a better job on Voyda than any other team has this year and this is the fourth time I've seen him," Coach Concannon Wood later said. "They didn't beat us offensively, we beat ourselves with the mistakes we made."

HUN ENDS WITH VICTORY

Defeats Admiral Farragut. 18-6. An 18-6 victory over Admiral Farragut Saturday enabled the Hun School football team to salvage part of its season, which saw the Red and Black lose all its other games. Hun ended with a 1-7 effort while Farragut failed to win a game in eight tries.

Hun scored in the opening period when halfback Bob McHugh went over from the five to complete a 65-yard drive. Hun's leading gainer throughout the season, McHugh also scored Hun's final TD in the last quarter, his four yard run completing an eight play drive. A junior, McHugh averaged six yards a carry as he gained 157 yards in 25 rushes.

Terry McEwen, a Princeton resident, tallied Hun's other score in the second period on a seven yard run. The sophomore spredster also caught three passes.

The final win, satisfying as it was, came too late for Hun Coach Dave Leete commented that he was disappointed in the season's outcome. "There were several games I thought we could have won but didn't," he said.

He attributed the losses to "too many mistakes and inexperience . . . and a little bit more desire, perhaps, on everybody's part."

Loses Few Key Players. Things should not be as grim next fall for Hun, as Leete loses only a few key players. The biggest loss, he stated, would be the departure of co-captains Kevin Dwyer, a quarterback, and guard John Marshall, and 6-3 end Dave Clark.

Also departing from the varsity squad will be center Bob Lang and Joe Haydu, a defensive back. Other seniors on the squad include John Videcheck, Mark Schwartz, Jamie Gorter, Bob Rutherford, Sandy Buck, Mike Seward, Bob Ziegler and Mike Phalen.

But Leete agreed that he had a good nucleous coming back, including all his backfield of McHugh, McEwen, Bruce Lisooey and Lonnie Cathel. Leete observed that if he is able to find key players to fill the few gaps in the line, it he doesn't lose anybody, then "Hopefully, we will have a much better season than we did this year."

Schedule Easier. Hun has dropped two strong teams from its 1974 schedule — Princeton High School and Peddie — and picked up rival Princeton Day School. It still has one open date to fill. Hun is a member of the New Jersey Independent School Conference.

As a result, prospects for Hun for next year on the gridiron are indeed brighter but Leete has little time to think about it now. Basketball starts Thursday and he is also head coach in that.

Last year, he directed Hun to an impressive 21-4 record and the Penn-Jersey League championship. With five returning varsity players, Hun promises to be a lot tougher on the court than it was on the gridiron.

WAIT TIL NEXT YEAR

PDS Will Be Tough. There is so much to crow about for the Princeton Day football team this season, that it hardly makes sense to begin looking at the prospects for next year.

Two forfeits, not one as reported here last week, ended the Panthers season on a strong note of anti-climax, but nevertheless the 5-2 mark achieved was good enough to give the Blue and White a share of the state championship (with Wardlaw and Montclair) for schools in the "B" division. That is a first in the school's history, and the 5-2 mark equals the best ever, first achieved in 1970.

The Panthers will lose just three players from this year's squad, leaving a veteran unit almost intact for next season. Co-captain Tim Hamid, who averaged more than eight yards a carry, in five games will be gone, as will center Bill Brown and defensive end Steve Norris. They'll be missed, but the 13 lettermen returning will give coach John Boneparth a good head start.

In the backfield next year, coach John Boneparth will have his pick of two seasoned junior quarterbacks, Bill Baggitt and Nick Brady, plus Bill Martin, ready to go after the ankle injury that sidelined him most of this season, and Mark Baxill, who shared the award for the most improved player along with tackle Shawn Ellsworth.

Both ends return, split end Frank Konstantynowicz and tight end Ralph Brown, as well as most of the line.

Boneparth, naturally, is cautious about the prospects for next season. There is always the possibility that boarding schools will claim one or two of his players.

PDS will also face a tougher schedule. Croydon Hall has been replaced by Hun, and MacArthur Military by Englewood School, and Montclair Academy has replaced Trinity School. Remaining on the '74 schedule are Germantown Friends, Wardlaw, St. Bernards, and Morristown-Beard.

Co-captains for next year's squad are Keith Thomas and Shawn Ellsworth. Other letterwinners are Baggitt, Brady, Hamid, Martin, Blaxill, Brown, Jay Trubee, Carl Briscoe, Michael Young, Doug Robinson, Larry Fong, Konstantynowicz, Ralph Brown and Carl Spataro.

PLAYOFF SATURDAY

Between Hilton, Sibson. Hilton Realty and Sibson & Co. will meet Saturday morning at 9 at Grover Park Field to determine the champion of the junior division of the Princeton Midget Football League.

HAMID: PDS MVP: Co-captain Tim Hamid, won the Panther award as the most valuable player on the Princeton Day football team this fall. His 742 yards gained in 90 carries, an average of more than eight yards a carry, helped lead the team to a 5-2 mark and a share of the State championship in the "B" school division.

BUSINESS In Princeton

PLUS SIGNS DOMINATE

In Latest Business Index. Plus signs topped minus signs by the comfortable margin of 11-3 in the 14 categories surveyed in TOWN TOPICS business index for the third quarter. A strong performance considering this quarter covers the traditionally slower summer months.

All the tumult created in the financial world when some banks began offering 8 percent interest last July does not appear to have had too much effect over all. Savings regularly advance every quarter, and have done so for the last decade with very few exceptions However, the eight percent gain from the second quarter to the third is a bit higher than normal.

The drop in checking accounts is also normal for this time of year, historically they have almost always dropped at this time of the year. The four percent drop in the comparison between this year and last is a little surprising, checking accounts have a way of rising year after year. Perhaps, investors lowered their checking balances to the minimum required to take advantage of the higher savings rates.

The return to tighter money apparently did not stop most residents from going ahead with building plans or moving. New houses, building permits, and value of building permits were all up in both Borough and Township for the first time in recent memory. Property transfers rose slightly in the Borough and a whopping 57 percent in the Township.

Two decreases, parking meter receipts and postal receipts showed up, with only the latter surprising. The volume of mail going through the Princeton Post Office has steadily risen each year, but for the first time in a long while the slackening of business over the summer may have had some effect. Parking meter receipts always drop off during the summer months, but finding a parking space never seems to get any easier.

PMS STOCK BOUGHT

By Sprague Electric. The Sprague Electric Co. (NYSE) has made a substantial investment in Princeton Materials Science, Raymond Road, South Brunswick Township, it was announced jointly by Neal W. Welch, chairman of the board of Sprague, and Bertram S. Lowe, chairman and president of P.M.S.

The investment was in the form of convertible notes which, when and if converted, would give Sprague a 40% stock interest in the Princeton firm.

PMS is engaged in the sale and development of commercial applications for liquid crystal displays and solid-state watch modules. The displays are used in products such as electronic wrist watches, electronic clocks, and readouts for portable solid-state calculators. The company is also engaged in the development of a new dry film technology for use in duplicating microfilm, microfiche, industrial x-rays, and graphic arts proofing paper.

Princeton Materials Science, Inc. was founded in 1969 by Drs. Issat Lefkowitz and George W. Taylor, now executive vice-president and senior vice-president, respectively. Both men are well known in the field of ferro-electrics.

Mr. Lowe joined the company as both chairman and president in December of 1972. He had previously been senior vice president and a director of the Longines-Wittnauer Watch Company, as well as president of Longines' subsidiary, LeCoultre Watches, Inc., and chairman of the board of Wittnauer & Co. of Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Joseph A. Castellman is in charge of the Princeton Materials Science, Inc. liquid crystal display program. He formerly headed up liquid crystal research and development at RCA Laboratories before joining P.M.S. this past spring.

A Plus for Taxpayers

Princeton Township is more than $27,000 along toward its 1973 goal of $33,000 in interest on investments, municipal officials reported last week.

The municipality has $200,000 in re-purchasing agreements earning 8¾ percent and $100,000 in certificates of deposit earning 9⅝ percent

In October alone, the Township reaped $6,337.28 in interest, and the total to date this year is $27,522.67. The total amount invested in various ways is $430,000. The money, of course, is taxpayers' money and the interest, as it rolls in, helps to keep the tax rate down.

Following victories last week, each team has a 3-0-1 record.

Led by quarterback Jeff Kennedy who scored on runs of three, twenty-three and one yard, Hilton stopped First National Bank, 27-0. Kennedy also scored two extra points.

Tim Wojciechowicz, the leading gainer for Hilton, scored the victors' second TD on a 28 yard romp off tackle and added the extra point. Steve Budd, Tim Berbone and Mike McCabe also ran well for Hilton.

The Hilton defense was led by Berlone, who had eight tackles, and by Budd and Ed Dean. The blocking of the entire squad was effective, especially that of Robert Rice, Jeff Seiler, Jeff Olsson, Tony Romero, Peter Young, Sean Cavanaugh, Budd and Bertone.

First National's offense was led by Doug Ferguson, James Mack and Lake Petrocelli. The latter had the Bank's longest run of the game — 15 yards in the first quarter. Standouts on defense for the losers were Mack with nine tackles, Pat Kellogg, Chris Henkel, John Kellogg, Judd Petrone and Petrocelli.

45 TD Run by Romero. Scoring in each of the first three periods — the first a 45-yard end run by Freddy Romero — Sibson defeated Peterson Construction, 20-6. Bob Taylor scored the second six pointer on a 20 yard off tackle run and Jay Sibson accounted for the final tally on an 18-yard end run.

The losers got on the board when Jerry Moyer ran in from 23 yards out. He was aided by Larry McKellar and Mike Lion who gained most of the Peterson yardage. Moyer completed four of six passes, three to Lion and one to Andy Charen.

Defensive standouts for Sibson were Bryan Varvel, James Varney, Bob Taylor and Romero. For Peterson, Jerry Moyer (6 tackles) Ed Furley, Bill Jasien, David Yim and Charen — all with four each.

RUG MART CHAMPION

In Senior Division. In final games of the season Sunday in the senior division of the Midget Football League, the Rug and Furniture Mart was held to a scoreless tie by Princeton Fuel Oil and Princeton University Store won its first, blanking Nassau Conover, 20-0.

Final standings: Rug Mart, 4-0-2, Fuel Oil, 3-2-1; Nassau Conover, 2-4; and U Store, 1-4-1.

In winning its second consecutive championship, the Rug Mart has allowed only one touchdown to be scored against it in two season. That was a TD a week ago by the U-Store. John Budd is the Rug Mart coach.

The final games brings to an end two and one-half months of practice and playing for more than 80 boys. Jack Petrone is League Commissioner; Dick Thompson, president.

EVALUATION SATURDAY

For Dillon Basketball Program. The annual Saturday morning Dillon Gym basketball program for boys 11 to 14 will hold an evaluation Saturday morning at the gym.

The program, sponsored by the Recreation Department and organized by the Princeton University Inter - Club Council, is divided into Division I for boys 11 and 12 and Division II for boys 13-14. Division I meets 9 to 10:30. Division II 10:30 to 12 noon at the Gym.

All players will be evaluated Saturday and placed on teams which will compete against each other during the winter. Each will have its own distinctive team shirt. Anyone 15 before Dec. 1 is ineligible. Complete information is available from the recreation office, 921-9480.

EDELBLUTS WIN

In W. Windsor Tennis. Bob and Boots Edelbluts were crowned champions in the annual West Windsor Recreation Department tennis mixed doubles tournament, after defeating Henry and Noreen Fallow 7-5, 6-3.

The Edelbluts had advanced to the finals with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Jay and Katy Sexton in the semi-finals and a 6-3, 6-1 win over Len and Phyllis Sobelman in their quarter-final match. The Fallows had reached the finals via 7-6, 6-4 triumph over Jim and Sue Swartz. In their quarter-final match, the Fallows won over Vic and Alice Payne 6-4, 6-3 and had earlier defeated Dick and Gwen Hansen 6-4, 6-2.

In other matches, the Swartzes conquered Reeves and Lillian Black 6-2, 6-2; the Sextons won over Bob and Lynda Shaff 4-6, 6-4, 6-2; the Shaffs overcame Mr. and Mrs. Bill Van Luven 6-3, 6-4 and the Sobelmans had defeated Fred and Guy Blacher 6-3, 6-4.

Ann Hofkin captured the womens singles tennis tournament in the gray division after a 6-1, 6-1 win over Mrs. Fallow in the finals.

In the "Girls Over 14 Years" singles tournament, Lynn Pearce won the title after victories over Susie Ryan, Katie Ruch and Sue Picard. It was the third title for Miss Pearce since she had earlier teamed with her father to win the father-daughter doubles title and with Linda Lanser to capture the girls doubles championship.

FREE TENNIS OFFERED

Saturdays From 7-8:45 a.m. The Mercer County Indoor Tennis Center is available to groups for free play every Saturday morning from 7 to 8:45.

County recreation commissions are invited to use the center through December. County high schools may reserve the indoor courts from January through April of next year. Reservations must be made in advance by calling the Tennis Center at 883-5768.

Wrestling at Jadwin

The Princeton Recreation Department in conjunction with Princeton University will conduct a wrestling program this winter in Jadwin Gymnasium under the direction of Tom Murray, coach of the Princeton High School team.

It will be held in the wrestling room Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 3, starting November 21, for boys in grades 6-12. Those interested in participating should be at Jadwin Gym on the 21st at 1:30. Additional information from the Recreation Office: 921-9480.

Reunion on Gridiron

Saturday's football game between Princeton High School and Notre Dame served as a reunion for ten players.

Two from PHS — quarterback John Mooney and center John Figueroa — and eight from the Irish varsity were all members of the same class at St. Paul's School on Nassau Street. Helping Notre Dame register a 22-15 victory over the Little Tigers were John Cota, Keith Ebrahim, Dan DelVecchio, Dan Collins, Mario DeVincenzi, Kelvin Smith, Tom Root and Pete McDonald. McDonald passed to DelVecchio for a 76-yard scoring play in the third period to give Notre Dame a 22-7 margin.

RECORD REVENUES SET

At Applied Logic. For the fiscal year 1973, ended September 30, Applied Logic Corporation, 900 State Road, announced record revenues of $3,237,914. A loss of $46,491, or 2 cents per share, was incurred due to a fourth quarter operational difficulty.

This compares with revenues in fiscal 1972 of $2,836,171, on which a loss of $271,061, or 15 cents per share was incurred.

Compared to the position at the end of fiscal 1972, the company recorded an increase in working capital of $355,117, from $761,749 to $1,116,866. Current assets over current liabilities were at a ratio of 5.7, compared to 3.1 at the end of fiscal 1972.

Applied Logic operates a nationwide time-sharing network and provides software services. The company's securities are traded over the counter.

NET INCOME INCREASED

At Systemedics, Inc. Nine month comparative operating results show Systemedics Inc., with growth in sales and profits.

For the period ended September 30, the company's sales rose from $2,545,000 in 1972 to $2,937,000. Income rose from 7 cents per share to 10 cents. An extraordinary gain of 3 cents per share was reported in 1972, and a gain of 7 cents was recorded in 1973. Net income per share rose from 10 cents to 17 cents.

Systemedics President William Krause also announced that the company has opened a New England office in Hartford, Connecticut to serve the growing number of customers in that area.

He said this facility would be staffed by present company personnel with additional people as required for customer service.

Business Women Nome "Outstanding Member"

Mary L. Fracaroli, 246 North Harrison Street, has been selected as "Outstanding Member of the Year" by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

To salute the accomplishments of America's working women, the club will celebrate National Business Women's Week, October 21-27. Part of the nationwide observance of National Business Women's Week, held annually since 1928, the occasion gives the nation the opportunity to honor the contributions made by working women, who make up 40% of the total national work force.

A magna cum laude graduate of Rider College with a B.A. in Business Education, Miss Fracaroli was on the Dean's List and also received a Certificate for Outstanding Achievement in the Department of Business Education in Academic Work and Student Teaching, as well as an award from Eta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society in recognition of potential leadership in the teaching profession. She is presently employed as a teacher in Hillsborough High School. She is a Future Business Leaders of America Club Advisor and was selected to represent FBLA at a state vocational meeting at Montclair State College to develop programs for educating students in the primary grades to the various jobs offered in vocational education.

Miss Fracaroli was the recipient of the $200 grant given by the Princeton BPW club to a woman continuing her education. She is now working on a master's degree in Business Education at Rider.

Members of the club who will attend the National Business Women's Week dinner are Alice Braveman, A. Myrtle Hensor, Josephine Konover and Ella L. Geddes. The club was organized in 1922 and has a current membership of 100.

Inflation of Another Kind.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The other evening, when we ate our yoghurt, my wife remarked that she had paid 59 cents for a 16 oz. (1 lb.) Breakstone yoghurt at Acme's; one week earlier the price was 47 cents. At A&P the same yoghurt cost 51 cents.

I scolded my wife and said she ought to have checked with the store manager at Acme and ask for a verification of the price. Finally, I decided to do it.

Equipped with one yoghurt at 59 cents and the sales slip, I drove to Acme. The store's manager assistant checked an impressive book and found the item after some search: the cost was 51 cents. The assistant noted that the figure 1 was barely legible; it could be misread easily for 7 (and presumably even for 9!).

The inflation is bad enough. Is it necessary to add worries by mislabeling grocery products? Admittedly, humans can err. However, who or what is to blame? Should the store manager perhaps check his personnel which marks the products?

Or, has the personnel the responsibility to double check with the store manager in case figures are so illegibly printed that it could be a 1 or 7 or 9? The reader may draw his own conclusions. Maybe other customers have wondered about the jump in price of yoghurt, hopefully not too many.

Fine Concert Overlooked.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I must draw attention to an inaccuracy in Arno Safran's review of the English Sinfonia (Town Topics, November 8). Princeton concert - goers have had opportunity to listen to four, rather than three, string ensemble groups "within a span of three weeks."

The Collegium Musicum of Princeton under the direction of Joseph Kovacs gave a superb program of baroque music in Trinity Church on November 4, which included a thoroughly polished and sensitive rendering of Albinoni's beguiling D Minor oboe concerto and a glowing performance of Bach's E Major violin concerto, in which the ensemble's director was soloist. Even those who had heard the exhilarating 6th Brandenburg on the previous Monday evening at McCarter found this finale to the Collegium's program astonishing for its vigor and freshness.

Please, in future, do not let us have Princeton's critics overlooking Princeton's music ians.

JOAN FLEMING
39 University Place

Editor's Note: Mr. Safran had no intention of downgrading Joseph Kovacs' music of baroque music. He was, however, writing within the framework of the University Concerts Series, which he reviews for TOWN TOPICS, and not with regard to every concert given in Princeton.

IDA Violates Zoning.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following letter has been presented to the Princeton Regional Planning Board to reinforce the opposition of many members of this community to the proposed building of a new installation for the Communications Research Division of the Institute for Defense Analysis in Princeton Township.

We ask you to publish this letter and to inform the public that the question is in fact being studied legally by Princeton Township Committee in response to public opposition.

GEULAH ABRAHAMS
(For Citizens in Search of Peace)

As citizens of this community we ask the Princeton Regional Planning Board not to issue the special waiver requested by the Institute for Defense Analyses in order to begin construction of a new installation for the Communications Research Division in Princeton Township.

We submit that the Communications Research Division, the most highly secret of all divisions of the Institute for Defense Analyses, has in no way been able to demonstrate that it conforms to the zoning laws which are operative in this community.

Since the very existence of CRD depends on complete secrecy, affording no right of access to other citizens or public officials, its proposed building in Princeton Township violates not only our zoning laws, but also the very basic principles of our democratic government.

The Princeton Township Committee has an obligation to the citizens of this community, to the more than 1600 registered voters of Princeton Township who petitioned them to prevent IDA from building an installation in the Township, and to themselves as a governing body, to reexamine the legality and political acceptability of this kind of unchallenged secrecy. It would set the most dangerous kind of precedent to allow IDA to build with non-disclosure of its intended use because of the power and pressure of its affiliation with the Department of Defense, while these privileges of non-disclosure would not conceivably be given to private individuals and organizations.

This nation has been painfully reminded that the acceptance of secrecy for the purpose of "national security" has made it possible for those with the power of secrecy to hide wars and commit crimes which have been destructive to the democratic fabric of this country. Acceptance of this policy of secrecy for the purposes of "national security" has left us in a crisis of insecurity — politically, economically and morally.

We ask the Princeton Regional Planning Board not to accede to IDA's request for this special waiver. We ask the Princeton Township Committee to legally investigate the question of allowing an institution whose existence depends on secrecy to build a facility in Princeton Township.

We believe that both these steps are necessary to assure the functioning of our laws in a manner which provides equal rights and obligations to all the residents of this community. Surely we all have the obligation to learn from our recent political history that the future of this country as a Democracy can be assured only if its citizens are guaranteed access to the truth.

Editor's note: All the Planning Board did was to grant final subdivision approval to the Thanet lot on which IDA hopes to build, subject to the bonding of any improvements not yet installed. The action had nothing to do with the Institute for Defense Analyses, but only with the subdivider's request.)

Township Voters Thanked.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

We wish to express our thanks and our gratitude to the citizens of Princeton Township for their vote on Election Day. We pledge to do our utmost in the years ahead to measure up to the public trust and confidence expressed in that vote.

Our special thanks also go to all of those who worked so arduously and unstintingly on our behalf during the campaign — the volunteer members of the campaign committee, the district committeemen and committeewomen.

SAVE THE CONSTITUTION

Watergate, cover-ups, "plumbers," politicol sabotage, wiretapping, burglaries of citizens, secret use of air power, illegal impoundment of voted monies, public expenditures on private properties, aides and cabinet members indicted, a Vice President evading income tax, a Special Prosecutor dismissed, two Attorneys General resigning in protest, crucial tapes missing . . . And, now an energy crisis not prepared for and denied only months ago. Is Nixon fit to govern? " . . . even with talk of resignation in the air, many of us avert our eyes from all of this and go on searching for evidence — evidence that can only prove for the thousandth time whot we already know. Hypnotized by investigotions, we have not, as a people, found the will to press for a resolution. Even in our extremity, we wait, it seems, for evidence that is more than evidence, as if some final memo or tape from the White House could free us of our obligations, and make for us the solemn decision we must now make for ourselves." (The New Yorker, Nov. 12, 1973, p.39).

During the past several weeks well over 2,500 people in the Princeton orea sent letters to their Congressmen supporting the impeachment of Richard Nixon. In this critical period it is each citizen's obligotion to CONTINUE to let his or her voice be heord. Take the time today to write your Congressman and Peter W. Rodino, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, to urge immediate impeachment. If you have olready written, write agoin. If you do not have the time to write your own letters, send the letters below.

Pharmacy Footnotes

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm.

Decay is always the most important problem where your teeth are concerned. Decay is most often caused by acids which ferment in our mouths. This acid attacks teeth and goes a long way toward destroying the enamel on the outside of teeth. Teeth should be brushed at least twice daily — we all know that! Yet we neglect our teeth and leave our toothbrushing to those times when we remember. With all the attractive products for tooth care on the market today, why not make tooth care a pleasant part of your health regimen!

THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon, offers a complete selection of the finest dental supplies. Denture cleaners and powders, tooth pastes, polishes and powder are all available in a great variety of name brands. PRINCETON TOWNHOUSE

For a large family that want to be near the University and within walking distance of town, we have just listed a 6 bedroom home in the middle of Princeton. Living room with fireplace, dining room with china cabinets, kitchen with pantry and a full basement which could be converted to family use. Four bedrooms are on the second floor and two are on the third. The lot is small, but its only a block away from the park. The neighborhood is full of children some of whom roller skate in the street. How safe can you be? $54,000

This view is from the inside of our creatively designed contemporary villa nestled in a Montgomery Twp. country setting overlooking Bedens Brook. Both living room and family room have fireplaces while the master suite is fit for a princess. A tropical paradise in a setting near Princeton. $155,000

In the Princeton Western Section convenient to town and gown is a lovely Dutch Colonial style home with four bedrooms and two baths. The center hall floor plan has a living room with fireplace, elegant dining room with built-in china closets, a convenient modern kitchen, and a family room with great expansion possibilities. $112,000

This beautiful Georgian style Colonial home is situated in a country like neighborhood near a panoramic lake. The large elegant foyer and the rustic family room with real beams set the tone of spacious elegance. Upstairs are three comfortable bedrooms and a fine master bedroom suite. An excellent layout for a Princeton dinner party. $105,000

announces that it is now the exclusive dealer for

BRIDGESTONE Steel Radial Tires

in the Princeton area . . .

THE SAME STEEL RADIAL TIRE RATED NO. 1 IN THE OCTOBER ISSUE OF CONSUMER REPORTS

"Speaking from my experience after dealing with hundreds and hundreds of cars, and putting many different tires on them, I have found that the Bridgestone Tire Company is the only tire franchise that can give the public the value and the quality that it is looking for in a steel radial tire. We at Eldridge feel that the choice must be Bridgestone once it is critically compared against any steel radial tire. It is competitive in price and far, far superior to any steel radial tire that we have ever encountered."

Edward Baker

Owner, Eldridge Buick-Pontiac

RADIAL TIRE FEATURES

1. Longer life.
2. Shorter braking distance.
3. Faster, safter turning on curves
4. Less fuel consumption.
5. Higher maximum speeds.

Tigers Eye 100th-Anniversary Yale Game as Chance for Atonement

The 100th anniversary of Yale-Princeton football, which will be marked in Palmer Stadium Saturday, finds the Tigers perilously close to plumbing the depths of both their rivalry with the visiting Elis and their own tradition-laden history in the sport.

If they lose the game, it will mark the first time in the century-old series that either team has won seven times in a row. And if Princeton is beaten Saturday, it will be only one more defeat away from becoming the first team in 104 years here to drop eight games in a single season.

The series began November 15, 1873, as the result of a meeting held the previous fall at the Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York among representatives of Princeton, Yale, Columbia and Rutgers. The gathering was called to discuss mutually satisfactory rules — many of which were borrowed from the game of soccer.

The Tigers prevailed in that first contest, to some extent because of what might be the first half-time strategy session the game of football has known. It was made possible purely by accident. After an hour of scoreless action, so a historian's account of the game goes, "two Yale men kicked the rubber ball at the same time, and it burst."

As the perpetrators and also in the role of host, it fell upon two members of the Yale eleven to locate a horse and wagon and drive into town for a new ball. Princeton's captain, Charlie Dersheimer, seized upon the intermission to tell his men how to solve Yale's brand of football, and his exhortations were sufficient to produce a 3-0 victory for the Tigers.

It took the Elis three years to gain revenge, inasmuch as it was not until 1876 that the two teams met again — this time at more-or-less of a half-way point in Hoboken. Scoring rules had changed in the intervening time, and the New Haven contingent was posted as the victor by two goals and two touchdowns to none for Princeton.

Thereafter, games were played virtually every fall with the exception of the years marked by the two world wars. Saturday's is the 96th in the past century.

Princeton is, of course, hoping to salvage a major portion of its dismal season by achieving an upset victory, but legends to the contrary, records show that ability of the underdog to defeat the favorite in this rivalry rarely occurs. In the so-called modern era, the Tigers' famed "Team of Destiny" capped an unbeaten season with an unexpected 3-0 victory here on November 18, 1922, Yale then winning as the presumably weaker team with a 14-6 triumph over the hitherto unbeaten Princeton eleven of 1927.

Very possibly the greatest upset of the entire century is still credited to Yale's 1934 team, which ended a string of 17 games without defeat for the Tigers with the spectacular Roscoe-to-Kelley pass for the only score of a cold gray afternoon. The Elis' 26-23 triumph two years later, in which they erased a 17-0 Princeton lead, was also something of a surprise.
